Centennial Dollar Bill In Works

OTTAWA (CP)—A special $1 bank note will be issued in 1967 to mark the centennial year, the Bank of Canada announced Thursday. The new note will be printed with the serial number 1867-1967 "for those who are interested in collecting," the bank said.

A single serial number would mean that there would be no advantage in applying early for these notes. Collectors could address orders to the bank by mail after July 1 but notes would not be sent out until after Dec. 31.

Gaglardi Tries Jet

'This Baby' Not Like Horseback

VANCOUVER (CP)—"This is flying!" Highway Minister Gaglardi of British Columbia was joyfully cruising at 400 miles an hour at 23,000 feet over the British Columbia interior in a $645,000 jet his department may acquire.

"This is a working man's jet," said the minister who has earned the nickname "Flying Paul" in the province because of his love for speed.

The minister tested the twin-engine Lear Jet Wednesday. It has been provided by the builder who is hoping to sell or lease it to the department.

Mr. Gaglardi is campaigning for support for acquisition of the aircraft among his fellow cabinet ministers.

Latest runway appears to be Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell who took a jaunt between Vancouver and Fort St. John, 800 air miles.

"You can get twice as much work out of a minister," Mr. Campbell said Thursday.

Agriculture Minister Richter, meanwhile, is not impressed.

"I ride horseback," he said. "You can't see any agriculture from a jet."

The six-passenger, air-conditioned craft is capable of 820 miles an hour at 41,000 feet.

"This little ship could cut down my working day from 12 hours to 14 hours, or less," Mr. Gaglardi told a reporter.

"This little baby will go from Vancouver to Fort St. John in one hour, 20 minutes; Vancouver to Prince Rupert, one hour and four minutes."

He said if the department does acquire it it will take three months to train a pilot to handle it. If the government does buy or lease the craft it will be only the second one in Canada. A private company in Toronto has the other.

Strike in Balance

Nemetz Plan Out Today

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Nemetz proposals aimed at settlement of the potentially costly woodworkers' dispute will be released today.

Labor Minister Peterson, who received a report from Mr. Justice Nemetz of the B.C. Supreme Court Thursday, called a press conference for 10 a.m. today.

It was announced that representatives of Forest Industrial Relations, employers' spokesman, and the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) representing 25,000 workers will be at the conference.

Mr. Justice Nemetz was appointed industrial inquiry commissioner by Mr. Peterson some time ago.

The IWA stated it would not strike to back up various demands, including a 50-cent-an-hour wage increase, until after it has studied the Nemetz proposals.

But about 7,000 workers have gone on strike despite that, reflecting an impatience with prolonged negotiations. At one stage 14,000 were out.

GUARANTEE BOUGHT
The employers seek a written guarantee against wildcat strikes, a five-day, 40-hour week in a seven-day operation and bigger union contributions toward board and lodging costs. They have offered a 22-cent-an-hour pay increase.

Jack Moore, regional union president, has said the Nemetz proposals must contain "a much better settlement" than any proposed by F.I.R. during negotiations if a strike is to be averted.

Yukon: One Dead, One Saved

11 TRAPPED IN MINE

ELSA, Yukon (CP)—One miner was rescued, one was found dead and possibly 11 men were trapped in the underground workings of the No Cash silver mine Thursday after fire broke out in support timbers at the 200-foot level.

Mine manager Mike Stoner said "10 or 11 men were unaccounted for in the mine."

The rescued miner was taken to hospital.

Rescue workers had brought out the body of one miner and an injured man who was taken to hospital.

No names were released.

Asked about the survival chances of the men who were believed trapped at the 200-foot and 500-foot levels of the mine by the fire, Mr. Stoner said:

"We are keeping our fingers crossed; miracles can happen. We don't want to give up."

He said the men were out off by a fire at the 200-foot level which apparently was of electrical origin in a lamp room and set fire to support timbers.

Mr. Stoner said local rescue crews were approaching the area from the 500-foot entrance and additional mine rescue crews and equipment were being flown in from Yellowknife, N.W.T.

The mine is about 1,000 miles northwest of Edmonton and 300 miles south of Whitehorse, Y.T. Yellowknife is 600 miles east of Elna in the Northwest Territories.

"As of now, we have recovered two men of whom one is in hospital and the other is dead," Mr. Stoner said. "There are still 10 or 11 men unaccounted for."

NINE ESCAPE
About nine other men escaped from the mine when the fire broke out.

Mr. Stoner said no further statement would be issued until there was something significant to report—possibly in four or five hours when other rescue workers arrive.

Maritime Meeting Raises Hope

LONDON (UPI)—Representatives of the striking seamen's union and shipowners met for three hours Thursday amid growing optimism that a 25-day-old maritime walkout crippling Britain was headed toward settlement. Both sides agreed to meet again today.

The surprise meeting took place after Prime Minister Wilson met with his cabinet and discussed arrangements to set up an emergency airlift for vital exports.

The unexpected session was only the second labor-management meeting since the strike over wages and hours began May 18.

Harvest Of Peace

Today's London Daily Express features an Ottawa bulletin story stressing that increasing reliance on Canadian wheat by East China and the Iron Curtain countries has become the great new instrument of peace.

Police Wade In Marchers Clubbed And Gassed

CANTON, Miss. (UPI)—Helmeted highway patrolmen Thursday night drove Dr. Martin Luther King and nearly 2,000 frenzied "freedom" marchers off a Negro schoolyard with clouds of tear gas and flailing boots.

About 100 patrolmen wearing gas masks and some carrying riot guns, threw tear gas canisters into the Negroes as they tried to raise their tents in a schoolyard the city had forbidden them to use.

TROOPERS WADE IN
The marchers — most of them local Negroes with the group for only a few hours — swarmed and scattered into the streets. About a dozen fell to the ground and the troopers waded into them.

The Negroes, clutching their eyes and crying "Oh God, help us," writhed on the ground and the troopers kicked them in the back and side, then hauled them to their feet, shouting "get up, get up!"

KICKED BY FOUR
One Negro was kicked simultaneously by four patrolmen. "God pity you, because I can't," a white marcher yelled at the troopers.

King was standing on the bed of a truck in the middle of the schoolyard when the troopers buried the gas. The marchers were frantically trying to erect one of their three tents.

"Nobody leave, nobody fight back!" King screamed. "We'll gonna stand our ground!" "We shall overcome!" he chanted, and then began singing.

Glue's Shocking Case

'Snuff Out Sniffing'

OTTAWA (Special) — Former justice minister David Fulton Thursday urged the federal government to consider two steps aimed at snuffing out sniffing.

He was commenting on the shocking case of a 18-year-old Toronto boy who police said had turned himself into a "raving madman" by sniffing glue.

Thursday juvenile court Judge Terence Moore threw out a charge against the boy stating there is nothing in the Criminal Code making the dangerous teen-age crime illegal.

"The federal government should take steps immediately to review the situation," Mr. Fulton said.

"Perhaps it should investigate control legislation which would permit the sale of glue to children only if they are accompanied by their parents or have a parent's certificate."

"And the national research council should be asked to examine the glue to see if it can be produced without the dangerous substances in it," he said.

Sailor Still Missing

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ten air force searchers still hunt Thursday for Kenneth Weira, 26, of North Vancouver, who vanished on his 10-foot cutter to meet the Japanese training ship Kaiyo Maru June 4.

His wife said the last she heard from him was in a telephone call from Victoria in which he said he was "heading for the open sea" to meet the Japanese ship, now in Vancouver.

Marchers Beaten, Gassed

Documents Sought By RCMP

OTTAWA (CP) — Officers of the Seafarers' International Union (I.U.) were asked by the RCMP in seven cities this week in a search, apparently, for documents that might provide a basis for the extradition of former I.U. boss Hal Berman from the United States.

Lloyd Bingham, assistant commissioner in charge of criminal investigation for the federal force, said the searches were conducted to look for evidence against Berman, who now is living in New York and working for the I.U. after skipping bail of $25,000 while awaiting a hearing in Montreal appealing his conviction on a conspiracy charge in Canada.

Fatal Fire-Bombing

Klansmen Charged With Intimidation

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — A federal grand jury charged 15 white men Thursday with the fatal fire-bombing of Negro leader Vernon Dahmer, Sr., in what the FBI branded Ku Klux Klan terrorism to discourage Negro voting.

The 15, identified by the FBI as Klansmen, were indicted on the "treason" song "We Shall Overcome." Some of the marchers joined with him for a few minutes but then the gas leaked up early in the twilight and they fled.

King, Stokely Carmichael of SNCC and Floyd McKissick of C.O.R.E. piled out of the truck and fled with their followers.

There were apparently no arrests, although 11 Negroes, including King's aide, Hosea Williams, were arrested earlier in the day for trying to pluck the camp on the schoolyard. They were freed on $100 bond.

NO SERIOUS INJURIES

None of the marchers appeared seriously hurt, although some were rushed away in cars to get treatment for their burning eyes.

King, his eyes tear-streaked, stood in the street and watched the troopers pile the tents and supplies back on the truck and move it off the grounds of McNell School.

"I was one of the best supervisors of a police state I have ever seen," said King, who on the Memphis-to-Jackson march is providing in his first Memphis demonstration.

BRUTAL INHUMANITY

"It was a marvelous display of non-violence in the midst of the most brutal inhumanity," King summoned his followers to a mass meeting in a Negro church in Canton.

The gas seeped off the schoolyard, surrounding the burning headlights of the troopers' patrol cars, and invaded houses that surrounded the school, sending their occupants streaming into the streets to join the marchers.

TROOPERS REMAIN

About 50 troopers remained on the schoolyard.

The first can of gas thrown fell near the truck where King and the other leaders were standing.

"It's tear gas!" King shouted. "Everybody put a handkerchief over your face."

Troopers looked the avoiding can of gas into the faces of marchers who lay on the ground. Many of the marchers were hysterical.

"This is worse than Selma," said a woman who identified herself as Odessa Warwick and said she was at Fort Rucker in Selma, Ala., when state troopers charged the marchers there in 1965.

Thyroid Grains Absolved Of Causing Miscarriage

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Melner: My married daughter, 21, has been taking two grains of thyroid regularly for the last 12 years and the doctor says she will have to continue it for the rest of her life. She has been checked once or twice a year by either a general metabolism or P.B.I. test, and has been normal for more than nine years.

She recently had a miscarriage after three months of pregnancy and the thyroid was blamed for it. Is that correct? Is it necessary for her to take thyroid for the rest of her life? If not, what could happen? What can be done to prevent another miscarriage? — MRS. G.L.

I question whether the thyroid had anything to do with the miscarriage. There are many causes for miscarriage. Furthermore, the regular B.M.R. or P.B.I. tests show her at normal levels WITH the thyroid she takes. The dosage, in other words, merely makes up for the amount that her own thyroid gland is not able to produce.

Because of the range of factors involved in miscarriage,

Your Good Health

I can't attempt to suggest what might be done to prevent another one. Quite possibly nothing needs to be done, because one miscarriage does not necessarily mean that it will be repeated. The circumstances may be different next time.

Barring any other evidence that your doctor might discover, I think you should go ahead on the assumption that the next pregnancy will be successful.

Dear Dr. Melner: A friend says grape juice is not good for babies. What is harmful about it? Also is it good to put a baby in a walker? — G.J.

There's nothing wrong with a little grape juice for babies. As to the walker, don't force a child to walk. Let him crawl and develop his muscles and coordination. When he is ready he will stand, hanging onto some support, and take some steps.

When he knows what his feet and legs can do, that is soon enough to see if he likes a walker, but by that time he may just take to walking unassisted.

Dear Dr. Melner: I was taught that after exposing fresh oranges, the vitamins are lost. Is the juice in 15 minutes. Is this true? Others do not agree with me. — MRS. M.T.

Vitamin C is lost gradually through exposure of air, as well as just by standing. Yes, I suppose there would be a little loss in 15 minutes, but not much. Standing overnight would mean a measurable loss, but you still wouldn't lose all of the vitamins by any means.

Note to Mrs. A.W.: Hard "night sweats" often indicate a chronic infection, so a thorough medical examination is obviously in order. Consider also the ventilation in the bedroom at night and the thickness of your blankets.

Eleven Trapped In Yukon Mine

teams had been able to get into the mine.

He made a plea for restraint by persons phoning the mine for information. He said a flood of calls was hindering operations.

STATEMENT SOON

He said a statement would be issued "once we know ourselves what has happened."

The No Cash Mine is on a steep hillside about three miles from Elsie, a community of about 500 people. It is about midway between Elsie and Cakumet, a small mining camp.

The shaft extends down at a slight angle from the top portal. Lower down the hillside are successive entrances at the 100-foot, 200-foot and 300-foot levels. These entrances lead to shafts running horizontally into the hill to intersect with the vertical shaft.

The local rescue team was waiting along the 500-foot shaft towards the area where the men were believed trapped. It was believed that the trapped men were cut off from the higher openings by fire around the intersection of the 200-foot level and the shaft.

Tories Keep Reins

erals are left without a standard bearer.

Though voting got off to a slow start because of morning rains that was general over the province, the tempo picked up sharply later and it was possible the turnout might equal the 1959 record of 35,000 as well as surpassing 1967's 297,000.

QUIET ELECTION

On the whole, the election was low-keyed and fought chiefly on the issue of Manitoba's economic progress in comparison with the rest of Canada.

Starting with a minority government in 1968, the 49-year-old premier got a majority in an election the next year and kept Conservative strength intact, though slipping slightly in popular vote percentage, in a surprise election Dec. 14, 1962.

Toronto Blasted By Heat

TORONTO (CP) — A heat wave hit the city Thursday, sending the temperature to a record 91.3 degrees. At least nine people collapsed and were taken to hospital.

Five men were knocked out of action by the hot weather, which broke a record of 90.5 degrees for June 28 set in 1921.

Hospital officials advised that people and those with heart conditions to take it easy until things cool off.

The humidity, a reading that combines temperature with humidity to determine stickiness, was 98 at 3 p.m. Forecast for Friday: More of the same.

B.C. Bank Bill Advances In Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — The proposed Bank of British Columbia bill was given second reading in the Commons Thursday.

Already approved by the Senate, the bill goes before the Commons Finance Committee. The bill called for gain approval in 1964 and 1965.

Liberal and Conservative spokesmen, while upholding the idea of a chartered bank based on the West Coast, urged a close look into the bank directors.

DIRECTORS QUERIES
Jack Davis (L—Coast Capital) said several of the directors are employees of provincial Crown corporations. One of them, Elton Gundersen, a Vancouver executive, was chief fund raiser for the Social Credit party.

While the board was an interim one, the committee must be assured it would be subject to the intentions of the shareholders and not the B.C. government.

WEKED OUT
Ron Barford (L—Vancouver Burrard) said the proposed directors are simply puppets of Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

Jack Horner (PC—Acadia) said he, too, is concerned about the directors. He would rather see the province with a 10-per cent ownership in the bank than be in doubt over its control.

Buddhist 'Voice' Named
SAIGON (AP) — Buddhist sources said Thursday Thich Tam Chau, politically moderate, has been given the task of conducting all future Buddhist church negotiations with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military government.

Chau, meanwhile, wrote Ky seeking release of monks, nuns and other followers now in government custody.

ABSENT MIND
He reiterated a demand that the government stop persecuting Buddhists.

Chau is the abbot of the Buddhist Institute. His subordinates were named at a news conference Thursday by South Vietnamese Rangers and police.

REORGANIZED
Buddhist sources said leaders have agreed on the need to reorganize the Unified Buddhist Church, which, with a following of about 2,000,000, has been in the forefront of efforts to oust Ky.

Meanwhile, the militant Thich Tri Quang is in hospital where he is continuing the anti-government fast he started in Hue. He was in the 16th day.

'No Basis' Seen Yet For Parley

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The state department reported Thursday that "no acceptable basis... has yet been found" for possible peace talks with the North Viet Nam regime.

Despite recent diplomatic misgivings by other countries, department spokesman Robert McNamara told newsmen: "There is at present, based on all reports as well as public statements, no change in the basic elements of Hanoi's position."

Sales Tax Doubled In Rhodesia

SALISBURY (Reuters) — The Rhodesian government Thursday doubled the sales tax to eight pence (16 cents). An announcement also increased duty on whisky, gin, rum and other spirits by eight shillings ($1.39 an imperial gallon).

This is the second time the price of spirits has been increased in Rhodesia since it broke away from Britain in November.

Airline, Staff Sign

MONTREAL (CP) — The formal agreement on a 25-month contract between Air Canada and the Canadian Airline Employees Association on behalf of 1,450 of the airlines sale employees was signed here Thursday.

J. E. Nickson, assistant vice-president in charge of sales, signed for the company and Robert E. Dye, president of the independent union, signed for the sales employees.

The agreement provides for an eight-per-cent increase immediately, retroactive to June 1, with another increase of seven per cent in 12 months.

Rebels Launch Proxy Battle

NEW YORK (AP) — Disident stockholders of Canadian Javelin Co., said Thursday they will launch a proxy fight for control of the firm.

The rebel shareholders, organized into the Canadian Javelin Stockholders' Protective Committee, seek control of the Canadian mining company from John C. Doyle of Montreal. Doyle is Canadian Javelin's former chairman and president and its principal stockholder.

NOT TRUE FACTS
The committee said it has asked the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission to recall proxy material sent by Canadian Javelin for the June 30 annual meeting. According to the disident stockholders, the material contains a misstatement of facts about options to employees of Jubilee Iron Corp., a subsidiary of Canadian Javelin.

Adjournment of the shareholders' meeting to Sept. 1 has been proposed by the disident stockholders.

The disidents said Doyle was in default of payment of three or four installments on a $3,200,000 debt owed Canadian Javelin. The sum represents the settlement of a suit against Mr. Doyle, made in 1963 by Canadian Javelin shareholders.

INSET ON SALE
The disident stockholders say their nominees would demand the full liquidation of the debt owed by Doyle. The proposed directors would insist on the sale or pledge of a sufficient amount of Doyle's 1,000,000 shares of Javelin stock to pay off the debt.

What's English Beer?

In case you've never had the opportunity to try English beer, here's how it's different to Canadian. First, it's deeper in colour — a rich, golden-amber. And it has more body — richer, you might say. But if you think that this makes it more filling, you're wrong. One of the reasons that it doesn't make you feel full is that English beer has less carbonation. It's definitely less gassy! For a completely new experience, try Charrington Toby — brewed in the finest tradition of English beer! Have a Toby.

Irksome Burden

IT IS FREQUENTLY argued that nobody wins a strike.

Some are more costly to the national economy than others, and the recently concluded dockworkers' stoppage in Montreal, Three Rivers and Quebec City comes in the very top category measured in loss of dollars and cents, to say nothing of its dubious effect upon the nation's commercial prestige.

The Canadian Wheat Board estimates exports are 35,000,000 bushels behind schedule. That represents earnings of $70,000,000. Unless this huge quantity can be crowded into ships for overseas delivery in the crop year ending July 31, prairie farmers will have to wait for payment.

Mr. Mitchell Sharp, the minister of finance, has warned that it will be impossible, due to the 38-day strike, to meet the export objective of 600,000,000 bushels for 1965-66.

The situation detracts to some extent from the gratification Canadians should feel that another huge wheat deal has been made with Russia—a three-year contract requiring delivery of 336,000,000 bushels for a useful $800,000,000.

It is the largest three-year wheat deal Canada has ever made.

But if it becomes the experience of our customers that because of labor difficulties we are unable to deliver on schedule there may come a time when hungry people will be inclined to look elsewhere for a dependable supply and make Canada second rather than first choice as a supplier.

There is the problem of shipping to be considered. In Montreal alone there were 156 ships idled by the strike, losing some $400,000 a day in the aggregate. All of our wheat exports are carried in foreign bottoms, of course, and it may very well transpire that before shippers will undertake to call for cargo they will want some guarantee against such losses or compensation for a broken contract.

Right now we have another strike on our hands in Montreal, with freight handlers of both the national railways out, paralyzing movement between waterfront sheds and railway cars. It started the day after the longshoremen went back to work with a new contract.

And elsewhere in Canada there is labor unrest, strikes and threats of strikes, which nobody in his right mind wants.

It is all very well for management and labor to push their own rights and interests. But it is not very good for the country as a whole.

The point is that, with very few exceptions, these disagreements can be anticipated well in advance of crisis. No one is going to quarrel with management's right to manage or labor's right to strike. But what does disturb the public mind is the apparent unwillingness or lack of capacity for both sides to contemplate their differences and seek a settlement before the point of collision. It is the people directly affected upon whom responsibility lies to seek out new formulas or new machinery which will provide an escape route from these recurring deadlocks.

Going back to the Quebec longshoremen's strike, for a moment: it is estimated that the 3,500 workers lost more than a million hours of wages. It is probable that before they can make up the loss the cost of living will have caught up with them and negated their gains. Already it has been announced that freight rates will be increased substantially within the next three months to meet the increased cost of wages. For these charges everybody pays.

So who's the winner?
It is time the country sorted out this muddle so that everyone can get on with the job.

Goody-Gumdrops

IF PEOPLE IN GENERAL don't seem as effervescent about the Confederation centennial of 1967 as some critics would like—the promoters for instance—Sir Tyrone Guthrie has the answer.

"Nobody can be expected to get excited about something that is still one year away," he says. "What do you expect? The whole Canadian population jumping up and down and saying goody-goody-gumdrops for centennial year?"

This famous theatrical producer will himself stage a show in front of the capital's Parliament Buildings as part of the centennial theme, but he lives up to the credo he espouses. Its nature he won't reveal. Time enough later on.

The various officials entrusted with the manifold arrangements for next year's centennial events have to be busy as bees and keyed up about them. But as Sir Tyrone indicates the average person can't be filled with quicksilver until these events come into immediate focus and attention.

When they do there will probably be no lack of enthusiasm across the country as each event takes place.

For British Columbians the situation is doubled since this year is a centennial also. But here too excitement will mount when each special observance arrives.

Meanwhile the B.C. public at least can't indulge in a ferment lasting for two years at a stretch. Goody-goody-gumdrops for so long would be just too much of a good thing.

The Protective Beat

ONE DOESN'T READ with amazement that a veritable army of Tokyo police will surround the Beatles when they perform in the capital of Japan—this sort of thing has grown customary wherever this quartet appears—but the extent of such deployment is certainly on a large scale.

No fewer than 5,200 policemen will guard them on arrival and in various places during their four-day visit, running up a total of 35,000 man-days and obviously interfering with other duty calls.

This will be for the protection of the Liverpool youths whose "beat" is now echoed round the world, but not from those who would bear them any grudge. Ironically it is to guard them from the admirers and the hysteria they create wherever they go.

Actually the Beatles, unintentionally on their part, could be reckoned as serious disturbers of the civic peace in that the reaction they provoke requires as much police diversion as demonstrations of militant intent.

And unless the cities where they play get a "cut" of the show proceeds, civic treasures are put to a lot of expense to see they don't come to any harm.

Conceivably one of these days some country or town might bar their entry, not for reason of ill-will but merely because they upset the apple-cart so much.

Reporting the War Newsmen in Viet Nam Attempt To Sift Truth from Confusion

By BRUNN HERRON

VIET CONG mortar the Saigon air base and blow up a hotel in the middle of town to dispute the claim.

All these imponderables leave huge gaps for claims of any kind by the South or North Vietnamese, by hawks or doves, by the government, or by those against the war.

The advocates of the war in Viet Nam like to choose the best of the reports as the only "truth" the "doves" the war correspondents as a whole try to report both, and in the wrath of both hawks and doves. That the military action, confounding as it is, seems through with political situation.

"Harassed American government officials brought up in democratic thinking have faced the dismal task of explaining, supporting, justifying and seeking to bolster seven military dictatorships in less than three years."

The comfort of political leaders is not the business of the press, in peace or in war, as they are already the history of political duplicity—plain downright lying—is familiar enough to every schoolboy. There is no reason why the press should make it easier. It has, indeed, an invariable obligation to make it harder, or impossible.

When the political situation is equally confused and totally unmeasured, the reporter has an obligation, while he is permitted to be present, to report the confusion. It is an aspect of the war.

But governments want reports of success, military and political. Unless they get them, they cannot control public debate, minimize public pressure and allay public doubts. It is not surprising that they should want this and it is not creditable. It is natural. And because a nation's blood and treasure are committed, they cannot have this false comfort.

The Associated Press has at least reported to attacks by U.S. government spokesmen on the press coverage of the Viet Nam military and political situation. Government spokesmen argue that the reporters covering Viet Nam are "inexperienced". The general manager of AP, Wes Gallagher, dismisses the charge. Some AP reporters have been in Viet Nam longer than any senior American official including Ambassador Lodge.

But that is not the point, Mr. Gallagher says.

"The only legitimate point at issue is whether each particular story is accurate in fact and detail. An examination of the record of what has been reported from Viet Nam in the past four years and what government officials have said about Viet Nam in the same period leaves no doubt that the reporting has been more accurate than the official statements. This does not mean everything reported from Viet Nam is accurate. Mistakes are inevitable. For

No Raise for Pensioners

THE main topic of conversation today and very rightly is the danger of strikes and demands of strikes. As one who is retired and on a fixed income I deplore the strikes and before condemning the trades unions for their intransigent demands I think a few salient points should be considered.

(1) Our members of Parliament started the vicious circle by arbitrarily increasing their salary from $18,000 to $23,000 per annum plus a considerable portion tax-free, to say nothing of travelling and other expenses. The Senate's salaries were increased from $10,000 per annum to $15,000 and a pension of $3,000 at the age of 75. A very large number of Canadians do not even earn half the retirement pension during their working lives. However our legislators felt that the country could not afford an odd cent increase of $100 per month to many Canadians who had ploughed this country of ours and so these wretched people have to eke out a pittance of $75 per month.

(2) Mr. Bennett was not to be outdone by the federal Parliament and so our MLAs were increased from $6,000 to $8,000 per annum plus other expenses. On the basis of a legislature's annual session of say two months this works out to an annual salary of some $48,000 per annum. How many of our MLAs would be able to earn even a fraction of their salaries in civilian life?

(3) The professional unions or associations make annual or bi-annual demands and now the doctors, although the highest paid professionals in Canada are demanding a reported increase of 10 per cent from 1967. The school teachers make annual demands and legal fees have now increased so much that only the well-heeled few would consider litigation. Although not advertised the fees of engineers, architects, accountants and other professionals have also kept pace with the rate.

One only has to study the latest industrial reports to see that the companies, especially the larger corporations, are making fantastic profits. One company reported an increase of 218 per cent in profits and stock splits continue with divi-

From Neutral Soil Fire on the Flank

THE U.S. state department has adopted an attitude towards Cambodia which is causing confusion among the American military here. It has simply become not proper to talk about Cambodia's harboring North Vietnamese troops and Viet Cong.

Yet there is concrete evidence that the Communists use Cambodia to infiltrate men and supplies from North Viet Nam, along the Ho Chi Minh trail, into South Viet Nam, and as a sanctuary for resting and regrouping their troops.

Recently a senior U.S. general was forced, in effect, to call himself a liar over a statement about Cambodia. Major-General Stanley Larsen, commander of U.S. troops in the II Corps area, said at a news conference in Washington that six Communist regiments were positioned in Cambodia. It was an accurate statement, coming from a general who has to know where the enemy is.

But Larsen was ordered by the defense department on the same day to say he had been mistaken. As the story is related here, the state department must force the defense department to order Larsen to change his story—thus making him appear a fool, though in fact he is far from that.

This was not the first incident of its kind. In April a detailed account of Cambodia's complicity in the Viet Nam conflict was prepared by the American military command here. It included evidence that the Cambodians had built a road for the North Vietnamese to infiltrate down from Laos through Cambodia and into South Viet Nam. The document was to have been given to newspapermen here on a "not for attribution" basis. It was duly read out and information on infiltration was presented. But the narrative stopped at the Cambodian border, so to speak, Washington—in particular the state department—had examined the document and struck out all references to Cambodia. Nevertheless a good deal of the information was published in the press, so much of it was already known to correspondents.

Another case occurred when U.S. troops fired across the Cambodian border at Viet Cong units which had taken refuge there, and which had opened fire on the American forces. U.S. policy is that field commanders may ignore the frontier if this is necessary to protect their troops. But this incident was not mentioned officially until correspondents specifically inquired about it. Then, belatedly, the state department delivered a watershed protest to Cambodia. There is considerable reason to believe that had the story not been published there would have been no protest.

Once published there was little the U.S. could do but protest. No protest was made about the state of affairs revealed by Major-General Lar-

The Old Age Pension should be now $125 a month. The next "strike" should be in old-age pension rates. Now, they are taking it lying down.

Canadian Wheat Instrument of Peace

By RICHARD JACKSON
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

Could it be, that in the end, a head of Canadian wheat will cast a longer, fatter shadow than the atomic toadstool cloud?

External Affairs Minister Martin and Agriculture Minister Green think so.

For the Canadian wheat crop now has assumed such an importance in the world scene as to play a decisive part in keeping the global peace.

"By a stunning historical coincidence, the situation has developed whereby both Russia and China, having failed to contribute to feed themselves, rely increasingly on Canada," writes chief foreign correspondent Rene MacOll in today's Daily Express.

He flew in from London to Ottawa, his assignment to do a "Wheat Is Peace" story.

"Canada," he writes, "by dint of hard work, highly sophisticated farming and an agricultural expertise matched nowhere—not even in the United States—is in the position to plug the food gaps and feed the proliferating millions behind the iron curtain."

"This may constitute the great breakthrough for which we have all been waiting. A breakthrough which will place the well-meant but tortuous efforts towards peace at Geneva, New York and elsewhere in the realm of shadow-boxing.

"And will perhaps render the nuclear jargon which disarmingly has come to form part of our daily lives seem less of a dismal threat."

I was with the Daily Express correspondent when Mr. Martin and Mr. Green expressed their views on Canada's wheat as the great new instrument of peace.

The Agriculture Minister was inclined to agree that as the human need for food was a basic fact of life, with Canadian wheat feeding the Communist nations, the "balance of terror" of nuclear weapons becomes less awesome.

And he tended to concede that it could be getting through to Moscow and Peking that if ever they should think of turning their guns west, they would be shooting themselves in the stomach.

Communist ICBMS loomed over the Pole or across the Atlantic, destroying the Canadian breadbasket, would put them on starvation rations behind the iron curtain.

Commenting on this week's $200,000,000 wheat sale to the Soviet Union—the deal will take Canada's grain take to something near $2,000,000,000 in recent years—Mr. Green said this:

"It's clear by now that Canada is playing a vital role in the keeping of world peace. We have achieved a special place with both Russia and China—and if the Communist nations ever were tempted to think of mischief, then this food situation of their dependence on Canada, could be expected to make them think again."

"It's really pretty exciting. In the next few decades Canada will continue playing the role of food provider for a world which is expected to double its population by the year 2,000. Unmatched by any other nation in the ability to produce food, we must double our production by 1980.

"We have a unique role—that of honest broker between West and East, that of builders of a bridge of understanding with food—the most practical way of all.

"The fact to grasp," went on Mr. Green, "is that the day of cereal surpluses is finished. There'll be no more of them.

"We'll be selling every bushel we can grow, millions of them to China and Russia—and think of it this way, that when you're doing so big and vital a business as this, you're a lot less likely to find someone at your throat."

"This can be international co-operation of the most gigantic and rewarding scale. It could well lead to a situation where all current thinking on East-West problems become obsolete.

"Canada always has regarded herself as a nation patiently building bridges of understanding between others—and this could be our most important bridge of all."

Mr. Martin put it this way: "We started off selling wheat in Poland, for we have always regarded wheat as a non-strategic commodity. And we never have hesitated to sell to any country willing to buy, whatever its ideologies.

"Look at it like this—it's simply a part of the developing process of building a peaceful world.

"We went ahead trying to make trade links with the nations of the East when others in the West were hesitant. "Nobody now denies the usefulness of these trade links. The possibilities are enormous."

Arab Thought-Controllers Earmark New Victim

Fearless Magazine Under Fire

By PATECK SEALE, from Beirut

A chill wind blows this week over the Arab intellectual scene: Perhaps the most independent fearless periodical in the Arab world has been banned from entry into Egypt on the charge that it is financed by the CIA.

If other Arab countries follow the Egyptian line—as they are urged to do—the magazine will be in real trouble and may have to close down.

The bureaucratic thought-controllers—the all-powerful "ministries of guidance" which in so many Arab countries have contributed to the degradation of intellectual life will have claimed another victim.

Hisar (Hizmat), published by the Congress for Cultural Freedom, is edited in Beirut by Tewfik Sayigh, a young Palestinian poet who in four years of uphill work has created a forum for some of the most vigorous and wide-ranging writing to come out of the Middle East. But hardly an issue appeared without him being exposed to savage attack.

The Arab left accused Hisar—and its sponsor the Congress—of imperialism and Zionism, while the right charged it with "Bolshevism" in Saudi Arabia. It was thought dangerous radical while in Egypt suspiciously bourgeois.

It also suffered from the ancient rivalry between Cairo—the self-styled "cultural capital of the world"—and Beirut. The roots of Hisar's present more serious trouble may be traced to the detailed exposure of the CIA in the New York Times this spring in which it was alleged, among many other charges, that the Congress for Cultural Freedom was financed by American foundations which in turn sometimes acted as fronts for the CIA.

This was enough for the Egyptian press. "Hisar belongs to the CIA," screamed a headline in Rose Al-Youssef, a prominent state-controlled weekly.

No regard was paid to the many letters to the New York Times denying any connection between the Congress and the CIA. The Egyptian censor seized the May issue of Hisar before it was put on sale.

The window-dressing was then provided by a foremost Egyptian pundit, Dr. Louis Awad, critic, poet and Shakespearean scholar who, as literary editor of the Cairo daily, Al-Ahram, acts as a semi-official arbiter of the cultural scene.

In a statement late last month he invited all Arab writers and readers to boycott Hisar. He called on Tewfik Sayigh to quit his post as editor and he demanded the "liquidation" of all centres of the Congress in the Arab world.

Last week Hatem, Egypt's vice-premier for information and guidance, issued an order banning Hisar from entry into Egypt on the grounds that it was subsidised by the CIA.

Very much disturbed, Tewfik Sayigh flew to Europe to put the question bluntly to the directors of the Congress: Was there a CIA connection? He was given a categorical denial.

What is distressing about the Egyptian scene is that it should be liberal thinkers like Dr. Louis Awad, himself a contributor to Hisar, who now call for its boycott.

Awad has himself suffered greatly from rumors and accusations in the Egyptian press. He has been accused of being a western-educated—in some quarters a crime in itself—and of working to undermine the cultural values of Islam.

In many Arab countries today intellectuals stand defenceless against the great power of the state. To displease the authorities is to go hungry when, as in Egypt, newspapers, publishing houses, magazines, theatres, the radio and television are in the hands of the state.

But in compensation of exercising self-censorship, top Egyptian writers are pampered and well paid. They earn more than doctors, lawyers or engineers.

Just why the Egyptian authorities should have chosen this moment to move against Hisar is uncertain. The Congress for Cultural Freedom is well known to be financed by the Ford and other foundations but so are many Egyptian development projects.

The ban is probably due to the random convergence of a number of forces: The current anti-American temper in the Egyptian capital, the ascendancy of leftists in the press, the

BACKGROUND

Ottawa Faces Dilemma

By MICHAEL GELMAN
From Ottawa

The Ritchie Donald report on the Nova Scotia coal industry has presented a dilemma for the government and Health Minister MacEachen, the federal minister who represents that province in Prime Minister Pearson's cabinet.

The report, turned in to Finance Minister Sharp but not yet made public, is said to recommend a phasing out of the coal industry over 15 years, coupled with incentives to locate industry there in order to provide alternate employment.

There are 7,000 persons directly involved in mining in the province.

MacEachen's dilemma arises from a government commitment he announced during the Nov. 3 election campaign to spend $30,000,000 on the industry—about $10,000,000 opening a new seam at Lunenburg, N.S., and another $15,000,000 modernizing existing operations.

When speculative reports appeared about the contents of the Donald Report, Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons the government commitment still stands. A cabinet committee is to be formed to study the report.

Informants say the government doubts the Donald recommendation is feasible, that the job of retraining thousands of men whose only vocation has been mining is too great.

And, they say, the ministers will keep in mind the comment of one Nova Scotia Liberal: "If the mines are closed we'll never win another seat in the province."

But there is concern in the government, they add, about pumping so much money into an industry that has been branded as uneconomic by a government-ordered study.

By far the cheapest and best for your lawn and shrubs. If applied as top dressing (one yard for every 600 sq. ft.) it will, after three yearly applications, develop a thick and lasting turf that feels like a soft carpet. This is how good and lasting lawns used to be made. One yard of our weed-free topsoil, costing about $4, contains over 225 lbs. of organic matter and minerals. In comparison, one sack of chemical fertilizer, costing about the same amount, contain only about 10 lbs. of plant nourishing minerals. Simple arithmetic thus proves that good topsoil is by far the cheapest and best plant nutrient for lawns, both new and old ones.

Most important of all, good topsoil is not "a shot in the arm" but IT LASTS!

Bids for Needle To Be Called

Tenders for a 325-foot skydeck space needle, to be located on the seaward side of Montreal Street adjacent to the Net Loft restaurant, will be called for in three months or less, promoter A. L. Bristow said Thursday.

Following "approval in principle" by city council, Mr. Bristow said work would be started immediately on design drawings, and an application would be made to the city for a building permit for the steel and concrete H-form tower with observation platform and tea-room at the top and restaurant and cocktail lounge at the base.

11-MONTH JOB

The job will take about 11 months. It is hoped to have the tower open in time for the 1967 tourist season.

An earlier proposal to build the tower on city-owned property on Belleville Street west of the CPR property was rejected by council and by the city's Advisory Planning Commission. These groups, as well as the Victoria Visitors' Bureau, thought the edifice would mar the Inner Harbor area.

NO PROBLEMS

A letter from the city manager, read at Thursday's council meeting, stated that there did not seem to be impediments in the way of construction. It had been cleared by city officials both from the standpoint of a possible future bridge across the Inner Harbor, and flight paths to and from the heliport the city is building in that section.

Mayor Toome's suggestion that the matter be referred to the provincial Capital Improvement District Commission was rejected by aldermen.

"There has been too much delay already in this matter. Let the promoters get on with the job," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood.

Cost of the project will be about $550,000. Financing will be arranged through private and public subscription.

Contracting firm will be Sir Robert McAlpine and Sons Ltd. and the Victoria architectural firm of Wade, Stoddell, Armour and Partners will act.

The second base level of the tower will provide additional space for the Net Loft restaurant, which will nestle at the base of the structure.

Vintage Cars Touring B.C.

Thirty ancient automobiles will chug out of New Westminster July 2 on the first leg of the British Columbia Centennial vintage car run. They will arrive in Victoria July 6.

Policy Blocks Clinic

An application to build a five-story, 12,000-sq-ft medical building on Yates Street near Cook was sent back to the city's Advisory Planning Commission for the third time by aldermen Thursday.

Acting on a policy decision by city council to try to develop the downtown core of Victoria within a boundary just east of Cook Street, the planning commission has twice advised rejection of the application.

The technical request is for rezoning of the area from multiple dwelling to commercial.

EXPENSIVE LAND

"I have long advocated extension of the downtown area," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood. "We shouldn't penalize people by making them pay two or three times as much for land in the centre of the city."

Ald. Robert Baird thought such a ruling was restriction of freedom to expand, and Ald. Clyde Savage agreed.

City council made the ruling, said Ald. Lily Wilson, based on the philosophy that the city must develop its downtown area. There was still commercially zoned land available downtown, and until it was absorbed the rule should be maintained.

BOUNDARY SET

"This is one effective method of preventing urban sprawl, and you just can't continue to nibble away at the boundaries. The boundary was set at Cook Street, and we should stay within it," said Ald. Percy Frampson.

"If you zone this area commercially, you could have Mother Cecilia move in with her cats and dogs. You could have a quick-freeze plant or a variety of other businesses there. Is this what you want?" Ald. Michael Griffin asked.

Ald. Edgewood opposed sending the matter back again to the planning commission.

GOOD EXAMPLE

"They talk about red tape at City Hall, and this is a good example," he said. "Why should we hedge on this matter? Let's not stick our responsibility. Let's deal with it now."

His plea was to no avail. Back it went to the planners.

The application was submitted by Tom Bradbury and Associates.

Girl Guide Leader Buried

Mrs. F. W. (Annie) Midgley, well-known in Victoria for her leadership of Girl Guides, was buried Thursday after a service at St. Luke's Anglican church.

She died in Penikese earlier this week at the age of 88.

In addition to her tireless Girl Guide work, she was an exceptional nurse. During the First World War, she served as matron, without pay, in a Ligonier hospital and was awarded the Royal Red Cross by King George V.

She received the Medal of Merit for her work with the Girl Guide movement, and the Beaver, highest Canadian award in Guiding, which was presented to her by Lady Baden-Powell.

Mrs. Midgley is survived by one son, Thomas, and a grand-son, Peter, both of Penikese. Archdeacon C. E. Wolf officiated at the service and burial was in the family plot in the church cemetery.

There is a power that surpasses all human might. This power is capable of helping man on each step of his journey to eternity. It can calm a troubled heart and lift a weary spirit. For centuries, unbelieving men have denied this power exists... but they have passed on, and the power remains. It is still the hope of a meaningful life for every man.

This power is found in a life of service in Christ... a power for today! Tonight, Dr. Carl Spaul will discuss one part of this power. You will want to hear his timely lesson at:

Book Tells Log Story

An official British Columbia book of logging, commemorating 100 years of progress in the industry, will be published this year by Truck Logger Magazine.

The announcement came on Thursday from L. J. Wallace, general chairman of the British Columbia Centennial committee. In pictures and words, the book will trace the history and development of B.C.'s logging industry.

Some 375 United States navy personnel are having an extra day in Victoria, a result of a mechanical failure aboard the destroyer Marshall. The destroyer came into HMC Dockyard about 7 a.m. Thursday, after its evaporator failed at sea. The evaporator removes salt from sea water for human consumption.

TRAINING EXERCISE — The Marshall and the Twinning, another destroyer also on the reserve training exercise, were not expected to call at the dockyard until today. The Twinning is keeping to its schedule.

COURTESY VISIT — The two vessels will remain here on a courtesy visit until Monday.

A decision on whether the today of the exercise's completion will be open to the public Sunday has to await the arrival of the Twinning.

Seven Days' Staff Not Offered Normal Contracts

TORONTO (CP) — Douglas Letterman, executive producer of the CBC's television program This Hour Has Seven Days, said Wednesday the program's staff has not been offered normal yearly contracts.

Mr. Letterman said his own contract expires July 31 and he does not know if the program will be back on the air in the fall. But his staff was working on a week-by-week basis as though the show would go on again.

He said the staff, mainly producers, writers and researchers, have refused to sign short-term contracts to see them through the summer and that some had accepted other jobs.

The producers had threatened to strike before the show ended for the season when its two out-of-court settlements for the loss of her husband, Luigi Niccoli, in a car crash near Quebec last July.

Widow Wins $50,000 Balm

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Anna Niccoli, a Klutznick mother of four, will receive $50,000 in an out-of-court settlement for the loss of her husband, Luigi Niccoli, in a car crash near Quebec last July.

Stitches in Pam Trueman Won't Stop Smile Show

Fate has taken a nasty swing at the 1966 Smile Show which opens July 2. Pam Trueman, who was to appear in 11 of the 21 items on the program, was rushed off to hospital Wednesday with appendicitis. Operated on Thursday, she is reported recovering well, but the gap in Smile Show cast is considerable.

However, producer and lead performer Jerry Gosley has secured the services of Adele Neilson, who has appeared in many shows around Victoria. Pam Trueman has been with the Smile Show for five years and teamed with Dorothy Hoyle in a popular duo song and dance act.

Benefits to Offset Expo Net Loss Of $83,000,000

LONDON (CP) — Robert Shaw, deputy chief of Expo 67, estimated Thursday that the big Montreal fair will cost about $330,000,000, leaving the Expo corporation with a net loss of $83,000,000.

"But that's only part of the story," he added in an interview. "When we consider the over-all benefits, the greatly increased influx of tourists and the larger flow of money to Canada, we shall make a good profit."

Shaw, who has spent a week here publicizing the centennial exhibition, said he has found "a good deal of interest" in Britain. He agreed with the words of one Londoner who had told him that Expo 67 "has the smell of success."

There also is rapidly-developing interest in the United States while excitement over the exhibition in Canada "has reached fever proportions," Shaw said.

Empress Hires Booster

Victoria should benefit from the increase in tourists by the Canadian Pacific Railway's appointment of a hotel and convention sales company to represent its hotel chain throughout the western United States, Empress Hotel manager L. C. Parkinson said Thursday.

The link-up with the hotel agency followed the recently announced $4,000,000 face-lifting job planned for the Empress.

Glen W. Fawcett Inc., now serving 102 hotels and resorts throughout the world, has signed a contract to represent the Canadian Pacific chain of 12 hotels in Canada, a spokesman for the railway said.

Flagmen Often Useless

WELLINGTON (CP) — The best men in a work gang should be given the task of wielding flags to let the traffic through on road building jobs, E. B. Wilkins of the British Columbia department of highways said in a talk to the New Zealand National Roads Board.

The flagman, he said, were often the most useless members of the gang. As a public relations measure, the most intelligent and courteous members of the gang should be used for the job.

Seattle Clubbing

Stewardess Killed, Roommate Injured

SEATTLE (AP)—Two flying United Air Lines stewardesses from Portland were beaten savagely during the night in their apartment here—one to death and the other near death.

They were discovered about 9:30 a.m. Thursday by a third stewardess with whom they shared the apartment.

The dead girl was Lonnie Trumbull, 26. The gravely injured stewardess, Lisa E. Wick, 20, was in critical condition at King County Hospital.

Police said both had been chopped repeatedly on the head.

Joyce Howe, 20, who found the two lying in the bedroom of the basement apartment on Seattle's Queen Anne Hill, said she had been with her roommates Wednesday night but had left to spend the night at a friend's home.

When she returned the front door was unlocked and a light was on.

RECENT GRAD A UAL spokesman said Miss Trumbull and Miss Wick graduated May 11 from the line's stewardess school in Chicago and had been flying a little more than a month. They were based here.

Police said they had no immediate clues. Asked about suspects, an officer replied: "We don't have a thing."

A blood-stained timber about 20 inches long and three inches square was found in a vacant lot south of the apartment building and was believed the weapon used in the beatings.

HEARS SCREAM A Neighbor, George Stoss, said police he returned home about 12:15 a.m. and soon afterward heard a car roar away "and at the same time I heard someone scream."

Another neighbor, Mrs. Minnie Labelle, said she also heard the car.

Quebec Exchange Program

Ten Teen-Agers Planning Trip

Ten Victoria teen-agers are polishing their conversational French in readiness for a two-week trip to Quebec.

Down east, 10 young Quebecois who will be their hosts July 8 to 21 are practicing English in expectation of a return visit here with the guests who will become their hosts and guides in Victoria.

The trip, which begins for the Victoria students July 4, is organized and partly paid for by the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews. The Victoria students will join 52 others from all over B.C. on the exchange program.

Two students have been chosen from each senior high school here. They will pay approximately half the cost of their trip. They are:

Ross Bowen-Collburn, 4141 Lark Road; Linda Jackson, 1100 Hadfield Avenue; Peter Lawrie, 4026 Quadra Street; Donald Panter, 1870 Ruby Road; Nedra Jayne Potter, 2823 Murray Drive.

Ralph Sarkonak, 2612 Blackwood Street; Mary Alice Shaw, 420 Superior Street; Elizabeth

IT WAS HOT The hottest temperature ever recorded on earth came in a village in northwest Libya in September, 1922—136.4 degrees.

Ernel Spratt, 3000 Rutland Road; Wendy Vanswaigt, 4637 Tyndall Avenue; Leslie Anne Woodland, 2500 Cedar Hill Cross Road.

Victoria chaperone is Miss Helen Ruckle, 2747 Satellite Street.

Women Guilty

Convictions Back U.S. War Policy

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—A jury instructed to consider whether the United States' use of napalm violates international agreements, convicted four anti-napalm housewives of trespassing and obstructing storage of the material.

They are to be sentenced today.

H. Reed Searle, their lawyer, said the complaint against the women accused them of "trespassing for the purpose of interfering with a lawful business." The lawyer contended the manufacture of napalm is an "unlawful business."

Calling attention to a Feb. 6, 1952 treaty, Municipal Court Judge Edward J. Nelson told the jury Wednesday: "You are instructed that by law of the United States, the use in war of asphyxiating, poisonous or other gases and all analogous liquids, materials or devices, having been justly condemned by the general opinion of the civilized world, are prohibited and unlawful."

The judge said the jury would have to determine whether napalm (jelled gasoline) was included in that category.

Assistant District Attorney Keith McLeod contended it would be "up to the jurors to determine whether Santa Clara County agrees with the federal government in its policies on Viet Nam."

The four women — Eileen

Hutchison, 42; Beverly J. Faruham, 39; Joyce McLeod, 32, and Lisa K. Kalvelge, 32, all of San Jose — could receive a maximum sentence of six months in jail and fines of up to $500 each.

They were convicted of obstructing napalm storage at the country port in Alviso.

The women lay down in front of trucks carrying napalm to the Alviso depot May 25.

To the foot-weary woman who's tired of shopping for appliances:

Relax! every feature you want in your kitchen is right here on this page!

If you're about to buy a large kitchen appliance, you can do your feet (and your pocketbook) a big favour simply by going to an Admiral dealer first. You see, Admiral knows the kind of appliance features a woman wants in her kitchen, and since most of them are exclusive — you just won't be able to get the same features anywhere else.

The Admiral Dual-Temp NT1366 refrigerator, for example, has a new Arctic Air Flow System, with fan-forced, sub-zero air that fast-freezes foods in the big freezer section and keeps cold air circulating freely throughout the refrigerator section as well. Naturally, there's no defrosting required at all, and you get Admiral's lifetime guarantee on the exclusive Dura-Last liners.

If it's a side-by-side refrigerator-freezer you want, be sure to see the beautiful Admiral Duplex model ND1966. It's only 33" wide, yet the vertical freezer compartment holds as much as 200 lbs of frozen food. Door shelves galore and huge 19 cu. foot capacity make the Admiral Duplex 19 the most wanted refrigerator-freezer anywhere.

Maybe you're looking at ranges. If so, you don't have to look farther than Admiral. Infra-Red broilers; easy-to-clean features; modern, convenient controls all make Admiral ranges your best buy for convenience and value.

Interested in chest freezers? Admiral will give you the best in food protection. Fiberglass insulation surrounds the storage compartment, and a warning signal light lets you know "all's well." You get a free 5-year food protection warranty, that actually insures you against food spoilage.

Hate dishwashing? Why not look at the Admiral automatic dishwasher? Admiral dishwashers automatically wash, rinse and dry dishes, glasses and silverware. The "Double Wash" cycle gives you twice the cleaning power of normal wash and rinse cycles.

No matter what kitchen appliance you want, Admiral's exclusive features make it easy for you to choose. So why not make a point of always seeing your Admiral dealer first.

And be kind to your aching feet.

Law Returns to Rule

Magistrate William Ostler used one of his own published cases in central court Thursday to establish authority for the Crown's case against an alleged impaired driver.

"On the basis of that which she has done, it is good law even though I made it, I hold there is a case," he said in dismissing a defence motion for acquittal on the grounds the Crown did not establish the accused as driver of a car involved in an accident.

Mr. Ostler cited a case in which the accused had been found "in the immediate vicinity" of an overturned car. An appeal against his decision in that case was disallowed.

CASE ADJOURNED

Court was told a car was driven off Cedar Hill near Weatherby and later, at the scene, police found Arthur Kirkby, 20, 1831 Elm, who told them he was the driver.

Police physician Dr. F. L. McNiven testified he estimated Kirkby's blood alcohol content to be .15 per cent.

The case was adjourned for defence argument.

The magistrate also was unable to agree with the probation officer that the case of Lorne Magee, charged with theft over $50, "is a suitable case for probation."

Magee was sentenced to four months.

Richard Small and Brian Kersey, both earlier convicted of attempted theft, were given suspended sentences.

Ralph Thorne was fined $300 when he pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

Stanley Juszcuk was sentenced to eight months definite and four months indeterminate in the young offenders' unit for false pretences.

William Nelson was sentenced to two months for assault causing bodily harm.

Muddy Fraser flows through gap in bridge

Barge Wrecks Bridge Skipper, Mate to Rescue Seven Dunked, Saved

By TOM CARNEY

VANCOUVER (CP) — An empty 1,800-ton barge slammed into a bridge Thursday, ripping out a 150-foot main span and plunging a truck and seven persons 30 feet into the murky, fast-flowing Fraser River.

The seven, six of them boys who were standing on the bridge, were plucked from the water and the wreckage-strewn barge by a fast-moving river boat skipper and his 24-year-old engineer.

Police feared a second vehicle and its occupants may have been lost.

Alan Jensen, 14, of Vancouver, was reported in serious condition in hospital, suffering four broken ribs and a pierced lung.

The barge, measuring 158 feet by 48 feet, was being towed upstream by the Marpole Towing Ltd. tug Clangway when it struck the bridge in the final moments of the morning traffic rush hour.

The impact ripped out a cast-iron span on the Twigg-Island-Richmond link of the Fraser Street bridge, two miles from where the north arm of the Fraser River empties into the Pacific Ocean.

Witnesses said a high tide combined with the runoff from heavy weekend rains in the interior of B.C. probably contributed to the mishap.

The impact severed B.C. Telephone Co. lines to Ladner and Victoria and cut a six-inch high-pressure, natural gas line operated by the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority. B.C. Tel officials said other circuits were available and a temporary gas line was being installed to service small, but heavily industrialized, Twigg Island.

John De Vos, 60, skipper of a Sagra Dredging Co. Ltd. dredge, and dredge engineer Gordon Lawson, 24, witnessed the mishap and sped to the scene in their dredge tender Sagra.

It rescued the six youngsters and truck driver George Simon of North Burnaby, Simon suffered a gashed leg.

Jensen, most seriously injured, was given mouth-to-mouth resuscitation before being taken to hospital.

The other boys escaped with minor injuries and shock. They were identified as Heinz Grimm, 16, his brother Mike, 15, Dwayne Wesley, 15, Jim Conner, 14, and Bernard Froese, 15, all of Vancouver.

Heinz said he and two other boys had been across the river looking for jobs as berry pickers. They had stopped on the bridge to watch the tug. The bridge lurched and collapsed as it was hit by the barge.

He clung to the bridge rail as he went under water, let go and floated to the surface to be pulled aboard the tug. None of the boys saw any cars on the bridge as it collapsed, but police checked reports another vehicle may have been involved.

Diving operations were to start at low tide.

Highways Minister Garland said the span would be replaced temporarily by a Bailey bridge. Plans already were being made to build a new structure across the river. Traffic, meanwhile, was to be re-routed across the Oak Street bridge, 20 blocks west.

Driver Smashes Truck Window For River Escape

VANCOUVER (UPI) — The manager of a television repair company, whose truck tumbled into the Fraser River after a barge knocked out the centre span of a bridge Thursday, said he had to smash his fist through a window of the truck to escape from the bottom of the river.

"When I got to the surface, the roadway seemed to be coming down on top of me and I dived down to the bottom again," George Symonds said.

BRIDGE BOOKED

Symonds said he had been driving at about 15 miles an hour and was watching the barge coming up the river at about 10 or 15 knots.

"I just got on the span as he hooked the bridge. The left side of the bridge just dropped down. I just went down with the debris. The truck nosed-dived and I seemed to ride it right down into the river with the bridge."

DOOR JAMMED

"But the door had jammed. There was debris coming down and I think a plank must have fallen on the truck. I just drove my left fist through a side window of the truck. I don't know how I got out, but there was a hole in the window and I went through it."

"At that stage I could have gone through a no-draft window."

He said the river couldn't have been very deep because it did not take him long to reach the surface.

"When I came up part of the roadway seemed to be coming down on top of me."

UNDERWATER SWIM

He dived down to the bottom and swam upstream underwater as fast as he could go.

"I swam for what must have been about 50 feet before coming up."

"When I got to the surface again there was a plank coming by and I just grabbed hold of that as held on."

Symonds suffered a slashed hand and minor face injuries.

OUTDOORS

with Alec Merriman

If you are getting all excited over these reports of big springs in the Pooder Bay-Beecher Bay-Secretary Island waters, don't count on catching them the easy way.

Some hit it lucky, but the ones who persistently take the big spring salmon do it the hard way. They get out on the water before dawn and are sitting over the spring holes when the first crack of light breaks... and that is when there is the most action with the big ones.

Joe Sears who caught the 48.3-pounder Tuesday was lucky. He got his at 6:15 in the evening, a more respectable hour to fish. But highlanders either camp right beside the fishing grounds or are starting to get up when most of us are getting to bed.

They launch their boats in the pitch black and race for the fishing grounds. The big surprise as dawn breaks is to find that there are other boats all around.

It is rather ominous to start out in the pitch black in exposed Sooke waters. Quite often you can hear the breakers slapping on the beach. You really don't have much idea whether it is a tidal chop, or it is a little rough out on the water.

It isn't until daylight that you find out what kind of weather you are up against.

We must confess that after a number of years at night shift work we don't like to get up early. Many mornings we get up in the dark at our Sooke cabin take a look at the water and go back to bed, only to wake up to see Jimmy Fleet or another neighbor returning with a couple of linkers.

Beecher Bay-Secretary Island waters have been hot. We didn't see a fish brought into the beach at Otter Point at the weekend, but they must be moving in.

Don't be afraid to fish deep, bounce your weights on the bottom. To catch big fish you must be prepared to lose tackle.

Beecher Head is the favorite spot in the Beecher Bay area. At the change of tide you can see and feel that tide rush in at the point and often that is when the action starts. If you don't get up early, next best time is the change of tide.

Fish off the point or round the point and hug the shore towards Sooke for the deep hole. Fish in a 200 or 300-yard circle just inside the west side of the point.

Spring and coho are being taken in good numbers off Bamfield, but weather has been hard on small boats. Springs are starting to show at Port Renfrew.

Sanichthon Spit has been producing for spin-casters. Sanichthon Inlet is pretty good all over with Coles Bay, Indian Bay, McCurdy Bay, Tod Inlet and Chesterfield Rock among the better spots. Strip or minnow and no flasher is working best.

Cowichan Bay spring run has started earlier than usual and they are getting 15-m trolling without flasher or by mooching. Fourteen boats checked got 47 fish, 23 of them springs over 18 pounds. Fifteen were coho up to five pounds and the rest were jacks.

May Gorchuca reports some good springs coming into Canoe Cove from Active Pass waters. Forster Pass blues have tapered off a little, but coho and jacks have been fairly plentiful on the west side of Tent Island.

We can only say it again—that is from Claytons right through to Deep Bay the coho fishing has been terrific. Claytons are elated with the fishing. "Only trouble is they get their limits so quickly we can't make anything much on boat rentals," they say.

Coho are plentiful at Campbell River and are moving in close in the Cape Mudge lighthouse area. Anything with a little red in it seems to be getting them.

There is still some good steelheading in the Port Renfrew area. Cowichan Lake is holding steady, but not exciting. We have had complaints about changing in levels of the Cowichan River because of manipulations at the weir.

They are getting trout on the fly around Skutz. Douglas Lake has been quite good. Sprout and Great Central are reported good and there are a few summer steelheads in the Stramp, Lower and Upper Campbell Lakes are good.

Provincial cabinet this week agreed to extend jurisdiction of the Provincial Pollution Control Board to include all of Strathcona Park and that board will make a special study of mill wastes from the Western Mines development, including proposals to dump tailings in Butte Lake.

This is at least one step in the right direction.

Victoria Fans Can Expect Football Variety 'Bonanza'

Twenty-five Canadian Football League games five of them featuring B.C. Lions as one of the clubs, will be seen on home television in Victoria this season as well as an unknown number of playoff games.

Officials of the CTV and CBC networks, in a joint announcement yesterday, disclosed plans to televise 44 CFL games in all.

Of these, 31 will be seen on the Western networks and 13 will be exclusively on the Eastern networks. Six of games available to Western fans will be played in Empire Stadium and will be blacked out here.

Of the 31 games to be shown on the Western networks, 24 will originate in Western Conference cities. The other seven will be played in the Eastern Conference but six of them will be interlocking games with the only EFC game available here being the Toronto-Hamilton game of Aug. 20.

The Lions and Calgary Stampeders open the show on Aug. 3 when they meet in Calgary. The Lions will be seen again in Regina against Saskatchewan on Aug. 13, in Toronto on Sept. 25, in Edmonton on Oct. 10 and in Winnipeg on Oct. 23.

Television plans will give Victoria football fans a good look at all CFL clubs. Edmonton Eskimos will be seen in nine of their 18 games, Calgary Stampeders in seven and Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Saskatchewan Roughriders in six.

Toronto Argonauts will get the most viewing of the EFC clubs, being on display in five games. Montreal Alouettes and Hamilton Tiger-Cats will be seen three times each and Ottawa Rough Riders twice.

FLAYOFFS
Eastern and Western semifinals will start either Nov. 5 or 6 and the Grey Cup game will be played in Vancouver, on Nov. 26. Arrangements for playoff television are not yet completed.

Johnny Esaw of Toronto and Brad Keene of Vancouver will lead Eastern and Western broadcast groups, respectively, for the CTV network. Esaw will be assisted primarily by Ann Stulus and Vic Chapman will be Keene's partner. Ex-Montreal coach Jim Trimble will join Esaw as a commentator. CBC crews have not been announced. Games to be telecast in Western Canada:

Emerson Easy Winner

Santana Scintillates

LONDON (AP)—The U.S. trio of Dennis Ralston, Cliff Richey and Stan Smith—all that is left of a hopeful squad of 16 who started Monday—reached the last 16 Thursday of the Wimbledon men's singles on a day that saw yet another seed toppled and some enthralling pinpoint tennis from Manuel Santana of Spain, the reigning U.S. champion.

Fifth-ranked John Newcombe of Australia was the seed to fall and—for the third time—the giant-slayer was an Australian. He was Ken Fletcher, 28, who was shut out of court for the first two sets and fought back to win 8-10, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Ralston carried too much weight for South African Keith Diekmann and won 6-3, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1, but the U.S. No. 1 seed still hasn't found his best form and his control showed signs of coming apart under tension.

The match that was tagged the best so far was the three-set battle between Santana and Marty Riessen of the U.S.

The third set saw Riessen come to life, with his service working better and his touch returning with some scorching backhands. But he had to crash heavy to make up and, after games went level to 6-2, the Spaniard suddenly struck home with a service break and won 6-3, 6-10, 6-3.

Bolt Stroke Ahead of Casper

CHICAGO (AP)—Tommy Palmer, whose game collapsed in his head-to-head close-up duel with Casper for the U.S. Open crown Sunday and Monday, continued to have his troubles with a 7-2.

No fewer than 11 players were double-faulted at even par, while another nine were bracketed with Palmer at 72.

Bolt, last a tournament winner in 1961 when he took the Pensacola Open, used 28 putts.

Bolt's round over Mackinac's tree-choked, 7,016-yard par-71 layout, gave him a one stroke lead over U.S. Open champion Billy Casper, the defending Western Open champion, Harold Kleece and Doug Sanders.

Tied at 70 were Bert Yanocy and R. H. Sikes.

Bolt, making only his 11th start this season—he has finished only five tournaments—dred four straight birdies from the fourth through the seventh holes as he came up with what he described "a super round of putting, for me."

Bolt's partner, Ex-Montreal coach Jim Trimble will join Esaw as a commentator. CBC crews have not been announced. Games to be telecast in Western Canada:

Saudi Ruler Snubbed For Remarks on Jews

NEW YORK (AP)—King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, fresh from a kid-glove White House welcome to the United States, faced the brunt of the hand from New York Thursday because of remarks about Jews.

Under pressure from Jewish organizations, politicians and others, Republican Mayor John V. Lindsay cancelled a reception and banquet for the Middle-East monarch and a spokesman said:

"The mayor will not greet him, nor see him."

VISIT OFF

Republican Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller, running for reelection in November, called off a scheduled courtesy visit with Faisal.

In Washington, the White House had no comment on the cancelled visit to Faisal. A similar rebuke to Faisal's predecessor during a visit to New York drew a reaction of displeasure from President Eisenhower in 1957.

The storm that engulfed New York City grew out of Faisal's remarks Wednesday at a Washington press conference at the start of a 10-day official state visit to the United States.

Replying to a question, Faisal told reporters he considers his country's enemy to be, not Israel, but the Zionists who by aggression transplanted Arabs from their Palestinian homeland.

Faisal then was asked about an Arab boycott of American business firms that trade with Israel. He replied:

"Unfortunately, Jews support Israel and we consider those who provide assistance to our enemies as our own enemies."

New York, which has a primary (nomination) election next Tuesday, has an estimated 1,800,000 Jews and the reaction was instant and explosive.

First was city councilman Theodore Weiss, a candidate for a Democratic congressional nomination. He said any honor paid the king would be an insult to the city's Jewish residents.

Non-Jewish protests also were raised.

1957 RECALLED

The pressure on Lindsay to cancel the city's welcome to Faisal was reminiscent of that faced in 1957 by Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner, when Faisal's brother and predecessor, King Saud, visited this country.

On that occasion, Wagner also ruled out any official welcome for Saud, calling him anti-Jewish, anti-Roman Catholic and an upholder of slavery.

Wagner's action stirred an international furor and two days later President Eisenhower broke a precedent to greet Saud personally and ride with him in a Washington motorcade.

Disarmament Prospects 'Very Small'

OTTAWA (CP)—The prospects for world disarmament are "very, very small indeed, very dim," the British minister with responsibility for disarmament said here.

Lord Chalkent, British minister of state for foreign affairs, here for two days of talks with Canadian government officials, made the forecast in a speech to the Canadian Club of Ottawa.

Harbor Job Awarded

Pacific Filodriving Company Ltd. has been awarded a $113,926 contract for harbor repairs and improvements at Masset, in the Queen Charlotte Islands. Work to be completed in eight months includes additions to the wharf and to the approach road.

Many Deserving Nominees

Good Citizen Choice Proves Difficult

Saturday is Decision Day for the committee filtering nominees for Victoria's Good Citizen award of 1966.

Twenty-seven persons — "all of them very deserving" — have been nominated for the award, Frank McHugh of Victoria Post, Native Sons of B.C. said Thursday night.

He said the response was better than expected, and the judging committee would have a difficult time deciding the winner.

SECRET DECISION

The decision will be a secret until presentation of the award at a ceremony at Beacon Hill Park bandshell at 3 p.m. July 3.

"In checking out some, they have found that the nominees have done a lot more community work than was listed," said Mr. McHugh.

He explained that 22 or 23 of the nominations were "exceedingly deserving."

Hospitals Losing Revenue

Crimp Predicted on Out-Patient Tests

By TED PULFORD
 Hundreds of minor but vital operations — now being performed in city hospitals on an out-patient basis — may be sharply curtailed if the hospitals continue to go in the red for their services.

because the hospitals lose money on them.
 "Our out-patient handling of these cases has not yet been singled out by the Jubilee Hospital board of directors," a city urologist told the Colonist Thursday, "but we are deeply concerned nevertheless."

High on List

The performance of such things as exploratory examinations of out-patients is a technique developed by many medical specialists in response to the city's crucial hospital bed shortage.

Operating at a loss as they are, the board is naturally going to fix its attention first on the big money-losers and these out-patient services are high on the list.

Why are the out-patient operations a money-losing proposition for the hospital? Doctors say the British Columbia Hospital Insurance Service sets a standard out-patient rate of $2. The procedure involved cost considerably more, and the hospital is stuck for the difference.

A routine cystoscopy, involving an examination of the bladder and urogenital tract, costs the hospital about $14.

Three-Day Stay

As recently as 1962, this procedure required three days in hospital. The patient was admitted one day, examined the next and allowed to go home on the third.

In a bid to reduce the pressure on precious bed space, city urologists sought speedier and more sophisticated techniques until, two or three years ago, some 11 or 12 bladder examinations were being done each month on an out-patient basis.

At present, 90 such out-patient operations are being performed monthly in this specialty alone.

The result is a major saving in money and bed space. For these 90 patients, a total of 270 days of hospital care, costing more than $6,750, would have been required under the old method.

Fraction of Cost

Using the out-patient system these same patients require no overnight hospital at all, and the total cost is only $1.80.

To a lesser — but still significant — extent, the streamlined methods are being used locally in most major branches of medicine.

Another saving of major importance is the patient's time. Hospital bed space has become so scarce that routine operations of a non-critical nature are already being booked into 1967.

The out-patient system avoids this long wait because hospital admission is not required.

Disastrous Waste

If necessary expansions are not made to keep up with the rising need for out-patient operation services, doctors fear that a return to the old system of admitting patients for two or three days is inevitable.

"This," said one, "would be a disastrous waste of time, money and bed space."

Correspondence is now passing between hospital administrators and government in an attempt to rectify the situation.

Complex Picture

"The situation is rather a complex one. We submit a budget covering the expected cost of our total service. In the event it is approved, we should be able to provide everything we specify with no problems.

 "Of course, it doesn't always happen that way. We complain that the allowance of $2 per day, payable by the out-patient, doesn't begin to cover the cost of the service he gets.

"The government agrees, but counters with the claim that the current per diem rate of $36.85 for regular patients already takes into account the requirements of our out-patient department as well.

Whatever the future of out-patient operations in Victoria,

Mr. Fraser made it clear that the hospital was not in a position to expand these services to meet the sharply increasing demand unless more favorable financial arrangements were made.

This fact appears to distress medical men most of all.

They feel that failure to expand out-patient services is a move against the trend of good practice.

Another difficulty with large numbers of out-patients arises from an unexpected source. Since these patients are not admitted to hospital, figures for the whole hospital appear to make the average length of stay per patient rise.

Were the out-patients to be admitted for a single day, the average duration of stay would drop, thus placing the hospital in a more advantageous light.

More Than 50 Needed

Saanich May Buy Houses For Low-Income Families

By JIM BRAHAN

Moderately priced Saanich houses may soon be sought by council for the municipality's low-income families, Coun. Edith Gunning said Thursday.

"The exact number of houses needed will not be known until further studies have been completed, but a basic survey showed a need for more than 50," she said.

Coun. Gunning is chairman of Saanich health and welfare committee.

CONSIDERED COMPLEX

Council was originally investigating possibilities of building an apartment complex for the low-income group.

"We are proceeding with a further study, but our approach to the subject has been changed. We are now considering dispersed housing. This is buying of single-family residences throughout the community, rather than the construction of one large apartment complex," Coun. Gunning explained.

CLOSED MEETING

Council conferred for 90 minutes Tuesday night with deputy municipal affairs minister J. Everett Brown and Chris Dowling, Victoria manager of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, at a closed meeting.

"After the meeting, Reeve Curtis and council were very enthusiastic about this new aspect of low-income housing," she said.

SUBSTANTIAL

"At the present time we have no idea of what the houses will be like, but they will have to be moderately priced, substantially built, and insulated so they can be heated efficiently.

"Our municipal assessor will be the one to investigate the prospective buildings."

'EXCELLENT SCHEME'

Coun. Leslie Passmore said he thought it was an excellent scheme.

"It is something that is long overdue. We have so many low-income families in the municipality who are living in places no better than shacks.

"With this government-subsidized housing, they can be provided with homes at no more rental than they are paying now," he said.

COST-SHARING

Under the government-subsidized housing scheme, the federal government pays 75 per cent of the capital costs, and the provincial government provides the remainder. Maintenance is shared on the basis of 75 per cent federal, with the province and the municipality equally sharing the rest.

Coun. Gunning noted that the municipality would collect full property taxes.

RENTS EXORBITANT

"Landlords in many cases are now charging these families exorbitant rents," said Coun. Ed Lam. "Some of them are paying more than 50 per cent of their incomes in rent for low-standard housing."

The deputy minister said after Tuesday night's meeting that a government-subsidized housing program must first be initiated at the municipal level.

Boy Suffers Broken Nose

A nine-year-old boy suffered a broken nose Thursday afternoon when he was hit by a car at the intersection of Fern and Cordova Bay Road.

Kevin Kennedy, 9, of 958 Clarendon, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital, where he was treated and released.

Driver of the car was identified as Mary Phillips, 988 Clarendon.

Statement 'Regrettable'

Police Union Flays Mebs

The attitude displayed by Esquimalt Coun. Arthur Mebs over the municipality's fire-police hassle is almost unbelievable, the Esquimalt police union executive said Thursday night.

"The recent statement by Coun. Mebs that the establishment of a fire department is 'rather silly' can only be described as regrettable," the executive said in a prepared statement.

"Surely the learned councillor would not wish the members of the naval fire department, where he is employed, to be also saddled with those duties normally carried out by the Corps of Commissioners."

"Yet he expects the members of the Esquimalt police force to operate under the same type of handicap. This attitude is almost unbelievable."

Esquimalt's 23-man police force has had the dual role of policemen and firemen for the past 12 years, and the union claims it is legally untenable because the police commission hires and fires constables and only the municipal council can deal with firefighters.

The union will ask the B.C. Supreme Court for a ruling on the legality of the double role.

Esquimalt Reeve Ray Bryant said he had been assured by the municipal solicitors that the council's position was legal, and intended to oppose in court the separation bid by the police union.

Study Awaits Flare-Out

A navy demolition expert is waiting for a burning marker flare found Thursday in the sea near Jordan River to simmer down before he tries to identify it today.

Such flares are frequently used in marine and aircraft exercises and by fishing boats, to mark positions, a navy spokesman said.

This one was towed to Fisherman's Wharf by the fishing vessel Grassholm.

School Board Welcomes Critical System Report

Greater Victoria School Board chairman John Porteous Thursday welcomed a report which is broadly critical of the school system here.

Lack of communication between levels of administration is the chief criticism in the study just completed by UBC professors Dr. Lorne Downey and Walter Hartwick.

Containing nearly 100 recommendations, the report has been discussed by Drs. Hartwick and Downey with the board, administrators, principals and teachers, but will not be made public until an "edited" version is printed this fall, said Mr. Porteous.

NOT DESTRUCTIVE

"The report is critical and forthright, but not destructive," said the chairman, one of the trustees who initiated the study.

Last winter the school board commissioned Drs. Hartwick and Downey to make an independent examination of the administration.

Mr. Porteous said their report confirmed the suspicions of the board that the district's rapid expansion has outgrown its old-time administrative system.

Specific criticism:

● Ideas of teachers and trustees haven't been getting through to each other; they've been lost in the administrative shuffle.

● Lack of clear policies has caused the board to waste much time in lengthy meetings, diverting out matters which administrators should have handled.

● Teachers and principals could do better jobs with more teaching aids and non-professional help to do routine work.

● There are too many over-size classes.

"The report says the school board could take a large role in raising minimum standards of education in the district," said Mr. Porteous.

TEAM SURPRISED

He noted that the survey didn't dwell on the good points of the school district, concentrating instead on what needs remedying.

"The survey team was quite surprised at some of the progressive things going on at the classroom level," he said.

Children Have Safe Look

In Barred Launderette

Locked Clothes Badly Needed

"This is a terrible thing to do, to lock up people's clothes," Mrs. Crysene Goodwin of 617 Kibbey said Thursday.

Two washer-loads of her clothes were left in the Colwood Launderette overnight Monday, Tuesday she found the pieces locked.

Since then she has been trying to get her clothes.

LOCKS CHANGED

"The owners of the launderette say the locks have been changed so they can't help me. I can't find a way to contact the baillifs who shut the place up," she said.

"I need these clothes and I can't afford to replace them. My husband will need his work pants today. They were only washed and they are probably getting mildewed by now."

FACING CHARGES

The Colwood Launderette was closed Monday by the owners of Colwood Shopping Plaza, Tankoese Yarmen. The eastern company is facing charges for allowing waste to be discharged from the launderette.

Saturday Night Brawling Feared

Rooming House Opposed

Saturday night brawling was one reason given city council Thursday by members of a deputation opposing an application to build a rooming house on Belcher Avenue.

An application by T. K. J. Holdings Ltd. to build a 40-unit building at 1510 Belcher is still in the toils of City Hall procedure. It was deferred.

The city has been reluctant to grant permits for such houses until its Advisory Planning Commission has completed a review of the bylaw covering such construction. Many aldermen feel the city has been trying to get away from the old-fashioned rooming house for years.

On the other hand, their champions in council point out there is a need for such cheap accommodation, particularly now that Victoria has become a university city and there are many students with limited means.

Bachelor quarters mean "Saturday night brawls" to William Jones, 1645 Oak Bay Avenue.

The plans submitted envisage rooms with no cooking facilities. There would be a bathroom for every two rooms.

"You can't tell me there won't be any eating in rooms," said Ald. Clyde Savage. "Nobody is going to live in a suite and not eat there. I don't think rooms without cooking facilities should be allowed."

There are many people in this town who cannot afford self-contained apartments, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow pointed out. Such people as students and nurses needed low-cost accommodation.

"I've had experience renting apartments, and I found more trouble with nurses than with men," said another member of the deputation.

'Mod' Look In Gowns For Brides

MONTREAL (CP) — A collection of wedding gowns, especially designed for brides during Canada's upcoming centennial year, was shown this week by Portrait Gowns of Montreal.

Although the designers were drawing on Canadian heritage, the gowns showed a lively awareness of current trends.

In some cases the new was harmoniously mixed with the "touch of antiquity" that permeated the collection. Other gowns, more timeless and traditional, sought a Canadian heirloom look.

Despite the emphasis on bygone fabrics and silhouettes, there were two dresses definitely meant for the mod or teenage bride.

The first, above the knee, was a fish net cage that covered a plain, pure boy shell. It had a Tulle-the-Tuffler neckline and was worn with seamed white net stockings and a dolly-type headress.

The second was a more conventional dress and coat ensemble in crepe-like satin. It came with a minute pillbox.

The empire style was popular as was a Victorian hour-glass shaping of the princess line.

Sheaths were less popular than full of controlled skirts and most gowns had trains or sleeveless coats that left the front of the dress uncovered and looked like trains. These coats usually had flat bows on the shoulder line.

Traditional white was often replaced by creams or oyster shades and thinged antique-looking lace was used frequently. The majority of dresses were pole de sole, but there was quite a bit of crepe and some chiffon.

Indoor Tea Nets $242 For Priory

Approximately $242 was realized at a successful indoor strawberry tea held in St. Mary's Priory.

Rev. Mother Ferdinand opened the tea. Distinguished visitors were Luzon Queen Bonnie Chidlow and Princesses Chris Houghton and Linda White.

Although the weather was unsettled, a steady crowd enjoyed tea and strawberry short-cake in a musical setting provided by the Elizabeth Fisher and Belmont Bands with conductor Lt.-Col. H. G. Cumbert. There was a dazzling exhibition of baton twirling by Audrey Sturgeon's Gleeettes.

The busy bake stall was in charge of Mrs. Edna Barwick with Mrs. R. Carlow looking after novelties.

Draws were in the care of Mrs. M. Guiney and Mrs. E. Henderson.

Tea convener, Mrs. R. Arnold, was assisted by the Sisters of St. Mary's priory, Mrs. E. Johnston, Mrs. L. Flatman, Mrs. D. Smith, Mrs. J. McNamara, Mrs. L. Dorman, Mrs. A. Stillman, Mrs. P. Price, Mrs. L. Brandt and the Misses R. Cardin and Nancy Chidlow. Mrs. E. Fenwick acted as treasurer.

Part of the "centennial" collection of Portrait Gowns of Montreal are these two wedding gowns, one in the "traditional look" and the other in the "mod look." The traditional gown at left is of peau de soie in antiqued pearl tone and is inlaid with hand-tinted Doguin lace. It features a long train ascading from a scooped wattleau back. For the bride who wants a wedding with a modern touch the gown at right features an above-the-knee hemline. It is a narrow poonby sheath of silvery white sonesta shaped under a fluted fishnet cage and it comes with a matching hat and short veil.—(CP Wirephotos)

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The forthcoming marriage is announced of Gillian Patricia Farr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Farr, 2675 Sea View Road, to Gordon Rostoker, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Rostoker of Toronto, Ont. The wedding will take place at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 28. Miss Farr, who is a graduate of University of British Columbia, has acted in a number of Theatre Guild productions directed by her father and in a number of University of Victoria plays. Lines Around the Mouth
The mouth area comes in for so much attention, the quiver the lines are smoothed out and made to disappear, the younger you will look. A skin-like substance 2nd Debat applied nightly will make the lines fill in and the skin becomes smooth once more. You will probably use 2nd Debat on your entire face to banish dryness, but do use a little extra care around your mouth. After applying the 2nd Debat massage very lightly, until it disappears into your skin. Your drug or food store has 2nd Debat with CIP 80 or CIP 1300 in double strength and you'll find it a genuine delight to use.

Double Standard
LONDON (CP) — British women, who themselves like "mini-skirts" and op-art accessories, do not like husbands in flashy suits. A survey among 10,000 women by a chain of tailors showed only 23 per cent approved of brightly-colored men's suits and 28 per cent approved of bold patterns in men's wear.

Minister Raps Lobby

Lobbyists for outdoors groups are clouding the issues about a log drive made in defiance of a federal fisheries ban on the Stellako River 85 miles west of Prince George, Resources Minister Williston charged Thursday.

He also said the international salmon commission study which concluded that log drives on the Stellako would be harmful to salmon spawning beds should have been released to the public a year ago instead of being kept secret until B.C. had already authorized the recent drive.

Outdoorsmen, said Mr. Williston, "have got a scare technique going here."

WHO CREATES IT?

He said Colonel Outdoors Editor Alec Merriman tells the people that Williston goes on "despite the public outcry. Well, who creates the public outcry?" the minister asked.

The president of the fish and game club at Prince George is on his side and is arguing against resort owners in the Interior who are protesting the recent log drive, Mr. Williston continued.

The salmon commission study has been out for a year and could have been released months ago, but because of "unilateral action" it was not sent to officials such as himself.

FOUND REPORT

Mr. Williston said he managed to locate one of these reports about a week ago and that he turned it over to the B.C. Research Council, which conducted tests to see if any damage was caused by the recent controlled log drive down the Stellako.

"I still haven't read it," he added.

The resources minister said he thought the research council would have its own findings processed "quite quickly" and said it would be released to the public.

"I have to put these multi-resource policies into effect," he said. "If there's anything, I've tried to do on resources, it's got to be on the table and let everybody see it."

If his aim was to destroy the fisheries resource on the Stellako, as some people suggest, he certainly would not have called in the research council to study the log drive, Mr. Williston added. "This would have been comically stupid."

Women Pilots Will Visit City

A group of 91 of the world's most illustrious female pilots is gathering in Seattle, and some of them are to visit Victoria Monday.

The women are assembling to compete in the 20th annual Powder Puff Derby, officially known as the All-Women Transcontinental Air Race.

This year's race takes the women in their privately-owned aircraft from Seattle to Clearwater, Fla., a distance of 2,188 miles over a prescribed route.

They take off July 3 and must be at destination by July 5.

One of the many pre-race-week activities is a boat trip to Victoria. The Chamber of Commerce and local pilots have arranged tours of the Legislative Buildings and capital area attractions.

Among those who are entered in the race and may visit Victoria is Sheila Scott of London, England, who recently became the first British pilot to circle the globe solo.

LONGEST FLIGHT

Her 28,600-mile flight is the longest ever made in a circumnavigation. It took her just under 33 days, in a single-engine light plane.

Other entries include Betty Miller of Los Angeles, first woman to fly solo across the Pacific Ocean, and Conna Wolf of Elm Hill, Pa., holder of 15 world balloon records and first woman to cross the Alps in a balloon.

Federal Budget Record

OTTAWA (CP) — An additional $295,000,000 in spending estimates for the 1966-67 fiscal year were tabled in the Commons Thursday by Revenue Minister Bennett.

The new items bring to a record $3,345,218,150 the government's budgetary spending program for the year ending next March 31.

Railway Bridge To Start Soon

VANCOUVER (CP) — A spokesman for Vancouver Pile Driving and Contracting Co. Ltd., said work will soon begin on abutments and five secondary piers for the new $8,000,000 CNR bridge at Second Narrows. The new bridge will be part of a $27,000,000 rail link between here and North Vancouver.

Burns Claim Crash Victim

VANCOUVER (CP) — Cecil France, 34, of the Anselm Indian Reserve at Williams Lake, has died here after receiving burns to 50 per cent of his body in a car crash May 23.

Law and the Driver

Many motorists are not aware of the details of the B.C. Motor Vehicle Act. For their benefit, the Victoria Chamber of Commerce traffic safety committee has prepared a list of traffic regulations with explanations where needed.

Not included are clauses which refer specifically to professional drivers.

SECTION 144 (4)

DRIVING ON LANED ROADWAY

When approaching an intersection intending to turn left, a driver shall drive the vehicle in the centre lane or in the lane nearest the centre of the roadway on the right-hand half of the highway.

Comment:

When intending to turn left at an intersection a driver must move over as close to the centre line as possible, in the right hand side of the roadway, and turn from that position.

A driver making a left turn from the outside, or curb lane runs the risk of being sideswiped from the rear by another vehicle which may be in the act of passing just at the moment he decides to start his left turn.

Turning left from the outside, or curb, lane is not only unlawful but also extremely hazardous.

Adult Enrolment Up In School Courses

Enrolment in school courses for adults in British Columbia is increasing at the rate of 15 per cent a year, says Education Minister Peterson.

He told a graduating class of 65 adults from Vancouver City College Thursday night that approximately one out of seven eligible adults in this province is engaged in some form of self-improvement.

Some 140,000 adults either attended night school or took home study courses during the school year just ended, he said. The ceremony, held at Kit-

Officers Shoot Death Suspect

DONALDSONVILLE, Ga. (AP) — A man sought in the fatal shooting of two women and the wounding of a state agent and two others was tracked down in a farm pasture and shot to death in a gun battle with officers. The man was tentatively identified as R. L. Williams, an itinerant worker.

lano High School in Vancouver, about our existing shortage of skilled, highly trained manpower, and deeply appreciative of the fact that you have done something to ease it." Mr. Peterson told the graduates of B.C.'s first community college.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

Bridge differs from other competitive pastimes in that you sometimes have a better chance against top opposition than against any one else.

In a training session between four members of the British women's Olympic team, the E-W cards were held by Rickie Markus and Fritzie Gordon.

Having opened the diamond and ruffed the diamond return, West cashed the spade ace and exited with a club. Two lines of play were now open to declarer.

As you can see, the club finesse works, but the second line of play failed. South should have gone for the winning line because she should reason that if West — a fine defender — did not hold the club king, she would lead a club before cashing the spade ace.

Ignorance of Cancer Dooms Many Women

Help for Heart Cases Provided by Rotarians

Life-saving cheque for $1,068.17 was presented Thursday to Royal Jubilee Hospital administrator George Masters by Jack House, president of the Rotary Club of Victoria. Figure is the exact amount needed to buy a cardiograph, an instrument which provides a visual monitor of the pulse of critically-ill heart patients.

Ignorance dooms an unknown number of B.C. women to death from cancer each year. Most of them are in the lower levels of society. They haven't heard or don't care about the simple test to detect cancer of the cervix. These facts, uncovered in a recent survey by the B.C. division of the Canadian Cancer Society, will be discussed today by the leaders of the national organization. The society's national board of directors and the grand council today begin a two-day annual meeting in the Empress Hotel. They will likely start working toward a cancer education program aimed at women in the lower socio-economic brackets. Results of last winter's study by the society were outlined in an interview Thursday by Dr. Robert Taylor of Toronto, executive director of the Canadian Cancer Society. He noted that B.C. has "one of the most advanced control programs in the world" in the field of detecting cancer of the cervix (mouth of the uterus). Medical doctors and most women have been educated to the importance of the simple smear test, said Dr. Taylor. About 65 per cent of adult women in this province have taken it, and the campaign has been credited with lowering the incidence of advanced cancer of the cervix by 45 to 50 per cent, he said.

Revere Rides to Triumph

By WILLIAM THOMAS

If the Paul Revere who played to a packed house in the Memorial Arena Thursday ever goes on a night ride he is just going to have to leave all that electronic gear behind.

Nonetheless, if his horsemanship is questionable, his showmanship is first rate.

More than 3,000 youngsters sat, stood, shrieked, yelled and fainted for over two hours of go-go music.

WILD WARMSUP

First on the stand were the Impacts, who managed to live up to their name by sheer volume. After a warmup session, they gave way to the Syndicate of Sound. This five-boy group comes from San Jose, Calif., where it won the San Mateo Battle of the Bands and got started on a show business career.

From the heightened tempo, it was not hard to conclude they were handling the hysteria to a fine edge for the Raiders and their doughty electrician, Paul Revere.

GUARD DOGS

By the time Paul Revere did make an appearance, a dozen policemen and two patrolmen with guard dogs were lined up in front of the platform ready to repel the British if they tried to get their own back on Paul.

There is doubt about the polish of this group. They are well-disciplined and go through their routines on songs and early American dances with flawless precision.

At no time, as they danced around the stage, did their guitar cords, which seem to sustain an umbilical relationship with a series of black boxes, ever become tangled.

PIANO COLLAPSES

Only mishap came when Paul Revere chattered his piano to hard and he collapsed under it.

He soon straightened it up and went on playing. Easily the most refreshing part of the whole show was the absence of prolonged plugs for "my recent recording."

It has become the fashion with some shows to spend half the evening plugging their stuff instead of singing.

Health Board Issue

Severance Word In Mayor's Hands

Mayor Toome was given authority by city council Thursday to give six months' notice of withdrawal to the Metropolitan Board of Health at any time.

"This doesn't mean that we are going to withdraw. It simply means that authority is vested in the mayor to give notice. We are hopeful that problems can be solved and difficulties ironed out in such a way that it will not be necessary to make use of this authority," the mayor said.

There have been reports and counter-reports of the city's withdrawal from the board for a year or more, arising out of Victoria's dissatisfaction with the whole board setup.

The city bears the major share of the cost of the board's financial maintenance, and discussions and conferences have been held to try to amend the constitution to rectify this inequality.

The mayor and Reeves of Greater Victoria municipalities have conferred with the provincial minister of health on a new board setup, and it has been suggested in several quarters that the whole health question might be better under the new board of the Regional District of the Capital of B.C.

A report that withdrawal was imminent, which followed the last conference with the minister, was denied by the mayor.

Nemetz Plan Out Today

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Nemetz proposals aimed at settlement of the potentially costly woodworkers' dispute will be released today.

Labor Minister Peterson, who received a report from Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz of the B.C. Supreme Court Thursday, called a press conference for 10 a.m. today.

It was announced that representatives of Forest Industrial Relations, employers' spokesmen, and the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) representing 34,000 workers will be at the conference.

Mr. Justice Nemetz was appointed industrial inquiry commissioner by Mr. Peterson some time ago.

STRIKE STARTS The IWA stated it would not strike to back up various demands, including a 30-cent-an-hour wage increase, until after it has studied the Nemetz proposals.

But about 7,000 workers have gone on strike despite that, reflecting an impatience with prolonged negotiations. At one stage 14,000 were out.

GUARANTEE SOUGHT

The employers seek a written guarantee against wildcat strikes, a five-day, 40-hour week in a seven-day operation and bigger union contributions toward board and lodging costs. They have offered a 23-cent-an-hour pay increase.

Jack Moore, regional union president, has said the Nemetz proposals must contain "a much better settlement" than any proposed by F.I.R. during negotiations if a strike is to be averted.

Yukon: One Dead, One Saved

11 TRAPPED IN MINE

ELSA, Yukon (CP)—One miner was rescued, one was found dead and possibly 11 men were trapped in the underground workings of the No Cash silver mine Thursday after fire broke out in support timbers at the 200-foot level.

Mine manager Mike Stoner said "10 or 11 men were macerated for in the mine. The rescued miner was taken to hospital. Rescue workers had brought out the body of one miner and an injured man who was taken to hospital. No names were released. Asked about the survival chances of the men who were believed trapped at the 300-foot and 500-foot levels of the mine by the fire, Mr. Stoner said: "We are keeping our fingers crossed; miracles can happen. We don't want to give up."

Maritime Meeting Raises Hope

LONDON (UPI)—Representatives of the striking seamen's union and shipowners met for three hours Thursday amid growing optimism that a 30-day-old maritime walkout crippling Britain was headed toward settlement. Both sides agreed to meet again today.

The surprise meeting took place after Prime Minister Wilson met with his cabinet and discussed arrangements to set up an emergency airlift for vital exports.

The unexpected session was only the second labor-management meeting since the strike over wages and hours began May 16.

Harvest Of Peace

Today's London Daily Express features an Ottawa headline story stressing that increasing reliance on Canadian wheat by Red China and the Iron Curtain countries has become the great new instrument of peace.

The Economist's Richard Jackson was with the Daily Express correspondent when he interviewed External Affairs Minister Martin and Agricultural Minister Green. His story is on Page 5.

Police Wade In Marchers Clubbed And Gassed

CANTON, Miss. (UPI)—Helmeted highway patrolmen Thursday night drove Dr. Martin Luther King and nearly 2,000 frenzied "freedom" marchers off a Negro schoolyard with clouds of tear gas and flailing boots.

About 100 patrolmen wearing gas masks and some carrying riot guns, threw tear gas canisters into the Negroes as they tried to raise their tents in a schoolyard the city had forbidden them to use.

One Negro was kicked simultaneously by four patrolmen. "God pity you, because I can't," a white marcher yelled at the troopers. King was standing on the bed of a truck in the middle of the schoolyard when the troopers hurled the gas. The marchers were frantically trying to shield one of their three tents. "Nobody leave, nobody fight back!" King screamed. "We're gonna stand our ground!" "We shall overcome!" he shrieked, and then began singing. Continued on Page 3

Glue's Shocking Case

'Snuff Out Sniffing'

OTTAWA (Special) — Former justice minister David Fulton Thursday urged the federal government to consider two steps aimed at snuffing out glue-sniffing.

He was commenting on the shocking case of a 18-year-old Toronto boy who police said had turned himself into a "revving madman" by sniffing glue.

Thursday juvenile court Judge Terence Moore threw out a charge against the boy stating there is nothing in the Criminal Code making the dangerous teen-age crime illegal. "The federal government should take steps immediately to review the situation," Mr. Fulton said.

"Perhaps it should investigate control legislation which would permit the sale of glue of children only if they are accompanied by their parents or have a parent's certificate. "And the national research council should be asked to examine the glue to see if it can be produced without the dangerous substances in it," he said.

Sailor Still Missing

VANCOUVER (CP) — The air force searched nine hours Thursday for Kenneth Wilson, 28, of North Vancouver, who sailed out to sea from Victoria in his 20-foot cutter to meet the Japanese training ship Kato Maru June 4. His wife said the last she heard from him was in a telephone call from Victoria in which he said he was "heading for the open sea" to meet the Japanese ship, now in Vancouver.

Marchers Beaten, Gassed

Documents Sought By RCMP

OTTAWA (CP) — Officers of the Stansbury International Union (I.U.) were raided by the RCMP in seven cities this week in a search, apparently, for documents that might provide a basis for the extradition of former I.U. boss Hal Banks from the United States.

Lloyd Bingham, assistant commissioner in charge of criminal investigation for the federal force, said the search was conducted to look for evidence against Banks, who is now living in New York and working for the I.U. after stepping back of $50,000 while awaiting a hearing in Montreal appealing his conviction on a conspiracy charge in Canada.

screamed and scattered into the streets. Some of the marchers joined with him for a few seconds but then the gas welled up early in the twilight and they fled.

King, Stanley Carmichael of SNO and Floyd McInnes of C.O.R.E. piled out of the truck and fled with their followers.

There were apparently no arrests, although 11 Negroes, including King's aide, Hosea Williams, were arrested earlier in the day for trying to punch the camp on the schoolyard.

They were freed on $100 bond.

NO SERIOUS INJURIES

None of the marchers appeared seriously hurt, although some were rushed away in cars to get treatment for their burning eyes.

King, his eyes tear-streaked, stood in the street and watched the troopers pile the tents and supplies back on the truck and move it off the grounds of McNeil school.

"I was one of the best expressions of a police state I have ever seen," said King, who on the Memphis-to-Jackson march is participating in his first Mississippi demonstration.

BRUTAL INHUMANITY

"It was a marvellous display of non-violence in the midst of the most brutal inhumanity," King denounced his followers to a mass meeting in a Negro church in Canton.

The gas seeped off the schoolyard, shrouding the burning headlights of the troopers' patrol cars, and invaded homes that surrounded the school, sending their occupants streaming into the streets to join the marchers.

TROOPERS REMAIN

About 50 troopers remained on the schoolground.

The first can of gas thrown hit near the truck where King and the other leaders were standing.

"It's tear gas!" King shouted. "Everybody put a handkerchief over your face."

Troopers blocked the smoking cans of gas into the faces of marchers who lay on the ground. Many of the marchers were hysterical.

"This is worse than Selma," said a woman who identified herself as Odessa Warwick and said she was at Pettus Bridge in Selma, Ala., when state troopers charged the marchers there in 1965.

Fatal Fire-Bombing

Klansmen Charged With Intimidation

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — A federal grand jury charged 15 white men Thursday with the fatal fire-bombing of Negro leader Vernon Dahmer, Sr., in what the FBI branded Ku Klux Klan terrorism to discourage Negro voting.

The 15, identified by the FBI as Klansmen, were indicted on two counts each—conspiring to intimidate Dahmer and other Negroes because of their efforts to vote, and actually intimidating them.

The indictments were brought under the 1965 U.S. Voting Rights Act and another federal law which provided that anyone who causes an act to be committed is punishable as a principal.

Thyroid Grains Absolved Of Causing Miscarriage

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Melner: My married daughter, 31, has been taking two grains of thyroid regularly for the last 10 years and the doctor says she will have to continue it for the rest of her life. She has been checked once or twice a year by either a basal metabolism or P.B.I. test and has been normal for more than nine years.

She recently had a miscarriage after three months of pregnancy and the thyroid was blamed for it. Is that correct? Is it necessary for her to take thyroid for the rest of her life? If not, what could happen? What can be done to prevent another miscarriage? — MRS. G.L.

I question whether the thyroid had anything to do with the miscarriage. There are many causes for miscarriage. Furthermore, the regular B.M.R. or P.B.I. tests show her at normal levels WITH the thyroid she takes. The dosage, in other words, merely makes up for the amount that her own thyroid gland is not able to produce.

Because of the range of factors involved in miscarriage,

Your Good Health

I can't attempt to suggest what might be done to prevent another one. Quite possibly nothing needs to be done, because one miscarriage does not necessarily mean that it will be repeated. The circumstances may be different next time.

Barring any other evidence that your doctor might discover, my thought would be to go ahead on the assumption that the next pregnancy will be successful.

Dear Dr. Melner: A friend says grape juice is not good for babies. What is harmful about it?

Also is it good to put a baby in a walker? — G.J.

There's nothing wrong with a little grape juice for babies. As to the walker, don't force a child to walk. Let him crawl to develop his muscles and coordination. When he is ready he will stand, hanging onto some support, and take some steps.

When he knows what his feet and legs can do, that is soon enough to see if he likes a walker, but by that time he may just take to walking unassisted.

Dear Dr. Melner: I was taught that after squeezing fresh oranges, the vitamin and salt in the juice is not used in 15 minutes. Is this true? Others do not agree with me. — MRS. M.T.

Vitamin C is lost gradually through exposure of air, as well as just by standing. Yes, I suppose there would be a little loss in 15 minutes, but not much. Standing overnight would mean a measurable loss, but you still wouldn't lose all of the vitamins by any means.

Note to Mrs. A.W.: Hard "night sweats" often indicate a chronic infection, so a thorough medical examination is obviously in order. Consider also the ventilation in the bedroom at night and the thickness of your blankets.

Mays' 521st Home Run Ties Williams While Giants Continue Their Gallop

Jim Hart (16), Ossie Virgil welcome Mays after big homer

Willie Mays tied Ted Williams on the all-time list of home run hitters Thursday when he hit the 521st homer of his career, and led San Francisco Giants to a 6-4 victory over Chicago Cubs.

Mays' next target is the career total of 534 by Jimmy Fox, the surprising of which would make Mays the greatest right-handed home run hitter in major league history.

Chicago's Ron Santo extended his hitting streak to 21 games with a single in the fourth inning.

Pittsburgh Pirates couldn't keep up with the league-leading Giants. The Pirates outlast Cincinnati Reds, 10-8, but the Reds got home runs from Vada Pinson — a two-run affair — and pitcher Milt Pappas to take a 5-3 win.

Pappas' homer was his first this season and the 12th of his career. It broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning, and was followed in the same inning by Pinson's two-run shot.

In the American League, the top three teams all won. Brooklyn

Robinson hit two homers, and Andy Etchebarren and Sam Bowens one each as the Baltimore Orioles beat New York Yankees, 5-2.

Second-place Detroit Tigers disposed of Washington's starting pitcher in the first inning — for the third straight night.

Mike McCormick managed to retire only one batter in the first inning, and shared the fate of Diego Segui and Phil Ortega who had been driven from the mound Tuesday and Wednesday, respectively.

The Tigers got three runs in the first inning and went on to a 6-1 victory.

And Cleveland Indians also used their power to defeat Boston, 8-6. Rocky Colavito hit a two-run homer, and Fred Whitfield, Jim Landis and Chico Salmon each had homers with no one on base.

Pitcher Was Doing Fine Until He Made Left Turn

TORONTO (UPI) — It's no secret ball players don't hurry to join a minor league team after being farmed out by a big league club and pitcher Jerry Stephenson is no exception.

According to one report, the young pitcher made a left turn somewhere en route and is headed toward his California home.

Seven Teams for WHL?

New Events Cheer Leafs

Two developments in the United States Thursday indicate that Victoria's place in the Western Hockey League is safe for another season.

In Los Angeles, the Los Angeles Coliseum Commission has approved the request of Dan Reeves, owner of the WHL Blades, for a three-year extension on the club's lease.

And in San Francisco, a special meeting of WHL officials approved the move of the Seals from San Francisco to Oakland's new 15,000-seat arena.

'Bellies Stop Carls' Rally

VANCOUVER — Vaughan Trapp, assistant pro at the Victoria Golf Club, shot a par 37 on the first nine holes of the period of years. The WHL is rumored to be asking $750,000 from the NHL San Francisco group.

Fresno and Phoenix are reported to be in the running for the Oakland franchise in the WHL. The arena will not have a WHL team in the 1967-68 season.

If the NHL moves into San Francisco, some teams will play games at Fresno in 1966-67 to test fan interest.

The Los Angeles story means that Cooke must be able to build an arena or come to some agreement with Reeves before the 1967-68 season. And in Montreal Thursday, NHL president Clarence Campbell was reported to be taking a serious look at arena facilities in Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Minneapolis will be required to report on their progress towards suitable rinks at special NHL meeting Sept. 15.

SAYWARD—There is still one logging operation going full blast, despite the IWA shut down.

But the operation, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Glen Duncan at Sayward, may yet be picketed.

The couple hopes union officials don't decide to consider their operation part of the strike picture.

They hope they aren't involved, not because they pay their loggers so much, but because they pay nothing at all.

The logging operation has been left behind by modern times and modern methods.

And because it is so antiquated, tourists are flocking to come and see it.

The Duncans are operating the only working Steam Donkey in B.C. It is at the new Pioneer Museum at Sayward, 50 miles north of Campbell River.

Glen Duncan gathered his prize logging machinery over the years. He built a log house to hold some of the equipment and other pioneer household items.

Then came the boom.

In May, the Prince Rupert-Kelsey Bay ferry run began.

Suddenly tourists were swarming to see the museum. So Mr. Duncan decided to get his Steam Donkey running, and that has really been an attraction.

The old steam whistle can be heard for miles. Tourists stop on their trips north and south to watch the operation.

It takes a full logging crew to operate the Donkey. This can only be done on weekends when logging crews aren't at their regular jobs.

Loggers now out of the woods because of the patchwork strike, can amuse themselves working the forests in the old way.

The operation is not just for show, logs are yarded, cut, and later loaded and trucked to booming grounds.

The Donkey was made about 1915.

Mr. Duncan is the engineer, the stokerman sweats away firing the firebox, the whistle-punk pulls the whistle line and signals all the operations to the engineer.

Another unusual feature is the pile of cedar shakes, with an ancient "fro" for splitting them.

Tourists are invited to split their own shakes and take one home for a souvenir.

Regional College

Fees Will Be Kept Low

PORT ALBERNI — Transportation and dormitory costs for the proposed Island regional college will be heavily subsidized.

Tuition fees "will be kept low."

The college will provide resource personnel to instruct local adult education programs in all member school districts.

SITE CHANGED

These important decisions were made at a recent meeting of the college co-ordinating committee.

They were made to offset criticism from areas furthest away from the proposed site, near Nanaimo.

Port Alberni school board has abandoned its earlier opposition and is now strongly backing a regional college located six miles north of Nanaimo.

TIGHT MONEY

But because of the tight money situation, Trustee Carl Anshelm, representative to the regional college committee, says Island residents may not vote on the college issue until 1967.

Mr. Anshelm also pointed out all school districts participating in the regional college must abandon Grade 13 instruction in their high schools.

Mr. Anshelm explained reasons for the Alberni change of policy.

To maintain earlier policy would leave Alberni out entirely and students would not be able to reap the many advantages of belonging to a college.

Serious problems may arise if students taking the university transfer program, the more difficult technical courses for those who have not attained full university entrance standing, have to commute in excess of 20 miles. Commuting students lose the opportunities to evening library research, to participate in before and after-class activities and to do the many daily hours of study essential to a successful completion of courses.

The college committee's endorsement of the two resolutions equalizing opportunities and assistance in local adult education programs.

Mr. Anshelm described a recent meeting with the Academic Board to discuss the application for a college.

The Academic board made these points:

● Emphasis will have to be on technical training programs in new colleges.

● The board supported the principle of standardization of education throughout Canada and as such would insist on very high standards in colleges.

● The committee should ask parents of Grades 11 and 12 what their reactions are to a section of the public schools act whereby Grade 13 must be discontinued in local schools when a district becomes a participant in an operating regional college.

Sewage Problem 'Bad'

By PETER TAYLOR

NANAIMO — The Indian Council here is still trying to hook up No. 1 Reserve to a sewer line.

Residents of the reserve, which adjoins the city's south boundary, are in a frustrating position.

CONNECTION

The southern main outfall from the city system runs through the reserve and carries the sewage out to sea, but so far the Indians haven't found a way to connect the houses on the reserve.

On May 9 Mrs. Florence Thomas, secretary of the Indian Band Council, wrote to city council inquiring into the possibility of a hook-up, especially for Elton Street residents.

REPORT COMING

On Thursday Ald. Gordon MacKay, the city's representative on the sewer board, said the city engineer is preparing a report which will be presented to council in the near future.

Mrs. Thomas called the situation "pretty bad."

"Effluent from septic tanks is overflowing and there are no sewer connections even though the main runs right through."

Nanaimo Border

She said previous Indian councils have tried unsuccessfully to reach agreement on a hook-up, but this time the council intends to follow up its letter.

BOUNDARY

Elton Street is the boundary between the reserve and the city, and Mrs. Thomas believes some of the problems arise from people living on the city side of the street.

A reliable federal government source, who asked that his name not be used, said the reserve needs a pumping station before it can be hooked to the outfall.

Sewage is coming down the outfall under pressure, and anything from the reserve would have to be pumped into the main line, otherwise it would bubble back up, he said.

He maintained any household in the Nanaimo area on septic tanks would have a problem, because in most places hard pan is only 31 inches from the surface, which doesn't make an ideal dispersal field for septic tanks.

DRAINING

The government official said a small pocket of residences near the Mayo Lumber mill is draining into the reserve.

"While the reserve is not part of the city, Nanaimo cannot ignore the area," he said.

United Appeal Needs Some Government Cash

NANAIMO — For the government to take over all the responsibility of United Appeal would be an over-simplification of the issue, welfare official Henry Stubbins said Thursday.

Nevertheless, he predicted a greater partnership between the provincial government and the Appeal's member agencies in the future.

BECOME PARTNER

Mr. Stubbins, from Toronto, is an official of the Canadian Welfare Council, and he was in Nanaimo to speak to the directors of Nanaimo's United Appeal.

Another Stubbins prediction was government would soon be purchasing the services of voluntary agencies on behalf of needy people, and in this way become a partner in United Appeal financing.

MASS PROGRAMS

"We need government to look after mass programs which are too big for voluntary groups."

The small agency is much more effective in dealing with the special needs which are highly personalized, he said.

Every United Appeal has member agencies which also received financial help from municipal and provincial governments. As an example, in Nanaimo member agencies provide about $200,000 worth of help annually, while the United Appeal takes care of one-third of this amount.

Mr. Stubbins urged the Nanaimo United Appeal to keep pace with the times.

"Make sure the services of your member agencies are up to date in terms of the current community situation."

Court Convicts Weeping Woman

NANAIMO — Mrs. Marjorie Cudde, 33, a mother of four, broke down and wept in magistrate's court Wednesday after being sentenced to three days in jail for driving while under suspension.

On May 28 she was charged with driving while under suspension after being stopped on Nicol Street by police.

Her lawyer, Ralph Hutchison, Nanaimo, told the court she was needed at home, but magistrate Stan Wardill pointed out violation of a court suspension is considered contempt of court.

Magistrate Wardill said the usual sentence for such a crime is 30 days in jail.

Mrs. Cudde, Nanaimo, was suspended from driving for three months March 19 after being found guilty of careless driving.

Mr. Hutchison said he would appeal both the sentence and the verdict and Mrs. Cudde was released on $250 bail.

Economics Studied

NANAIMO—Liaison will still be maintained with the study group looking into amalgamation of unorganized areas around Nanaimo by Mountain Fire Protection District.

Secretary Gordon Bush said the area are now in the process of going through the financial statement "hoping to come up with some answers that will show the district it is cheaper to amalgamate."

'Safety Patrol Is Never Lax'

DUNCAN — Civic officials, the police and a Duncan Kiwanis Thursday paid tribute to 99 members of the junior safety patrol who guarded the welfare of their schoolmates.

Duncan Mayor Jack Dobson, North Cowichan Coun. Dennis Hogen, RCMP highway patrol Const. Jim Wilson and Duncan Kiwanis club member Lindsay Loust thanked the young patrol members from Duncan Elementary and Alexander Elementary schools for their "wonderful service to the community and to the school."

Const. Wilson said "You are setting a wonderful example and not once did I find a lax patrol member."

Mr. Loust said it is the 14th accident-free year since safety patrols were established at the two schools.

Today the youngsters will be taken by members of the Duncan Kiwanis Club for the traditional splash in Crystal Garden at Victoria.

Music Marches In

NANAIMO — First band concert of the season sponsored by the Civic Properties and Recreation Commission will take place at Bowen Park June 28 at 7:30 p.m.

The program will be just over an hour in length, and an added attraction will be a display of art work by Nanaimo Art Club.

The musical selection will include seven marches, New Colonial, Old Comrades, Sons of the Beaver, Barram and Basley.

Our Director, Vanished Army, and Officer of the Day; three light selections, L'Estudunata, Trumpets Ole, and Light Cavalry; a waltz, Waves of the Danube, and a hymn.

Chairs will be put out on the grass for the public.

Loggers Will Vote on Report

One Slice or Whole Pie?

By KLAUS MURTEER

DUNCAN — Members of Local 1-80, IWA, will vote Sunday on the Nemets Report at a meeting scheduled for 2 p.m. at the Duncan Curling Rink.

All 4,500 members of the Nanaimo - Duncan - Lake Cowichan-Port Renfrew local have been idle since last Friday after a strike began Thursday evening at the Chemainus sawmill.

The reason given by union officials for the strike was that workers are dissatisfied with dragged-out negotiations for a new contract.

The officials claimed the IWA splinter strike along the coast was a protest.

The said this strike was "not engineered" and it does not have the authorization of the union executive.

The old contract ended June 14, and the regional negotiating committee recommended to wait for the outcome of the report of Mr. Justice Nathan Nemets.

A large group of woodworkers defied this recommendation.

The IWA's demands include: Higher wages, partial to partial pay for loggers, longer vacations with more pay, one contract for all, no strike-breaking, sitting shifts, double pay for weekend, improved job security, another paid statutory holiday, accumulated sick leave with pay, leave of absence for educational and compassionate reasons, improved plywood job evaluation, better timing for vacations, assured seniority and a one-year contract.

Negotiation talks between Forest Industrial Relations and the International Woodworkers of America began in March and union officials charged FIR representatives with "stalling tactics."

The FIR representatives on the other hand complained the IWA this time did not just want a bigger bite, but the whole pie.

They said the IWA in B.C. is demanding three times as much as lumber unions in the States and lumber operators there could get a larger share of overseas markets.

Centennial Dollar Bill In Works

OTTAWA (CP)—A special $1 bank note will be issued in 1967 to mark the centennial year, the Bank of Canada announced Thursday. The new notes will be printed with the serial number 1867-1967 "for those who are interested in collecting," the bank said.

A single serial number would mean that there would be no advantage in applying early for these notes. Collectors could address orders to the bank by mail after July 1 but notes would not be sent out until after Dec. 31.

Gagliardi Tries Jet

'This Baby' Not Like Horseback

VANCOUVER (CP)—"This is flying!" Highways Minister Gagliardi of British Columbia was joyfully cruising at 400 miles an hour at 23,000 feet over the British Columbia interior in a $645,000 jet his department may acquire.

"This is a working man's jet," said the minister who has earned the nickname "Flying Phil" in the province because of his love for speed.

The minister tested the twin-engine Lear Jet Wednesday. It has been provided by the builder who is hoping to sell or lease it to the department.

Mr. Gagliardi is campaigning for support for acquisition of the aircraft among his fellow cabinet ministers. Latest convert appears to be Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell who took a jaunt between Vancouver and Fort St. John, 800 air miles.

"You can get twice as much work out of a minister," Mr. Campbell said Thursday. Agriculture Minister Richter, meanwhile, is not impressed.

"I ride horseback," he said. "You can't see any agriculture from a jet."

The six-passenger, air-conditioned craft is capable of 520 miles an hour at 41,000 feet.

"This little ship could cut down my working day from 18 hours to 14 hours, or less," Mr. Gagliardi told a reporter. "This little baby will go from Vancouver to Fort St. John in one hour, 20 minutes; Vancouver to Prince Rupert, one hour and four minutes."

He said if the department does acquire it it will take three months to train a pilot to handle it. If the government does buy or lease the craft it will be only the second one in Canada. A private company in Toronto has the other.

Strike in Balance

Nemetz Plan Out Today

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Nemetz proposals aimed at settlement of the potentially costly woodworkers' dispute will be released today.

Labor Minister Peterson, who received a report from Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz of the B.C. Supreme Court Thursday, called a press conference for 10 a.m. today.

It was announced that representatives of Forest Industrial Relations, employers spokesmen, and the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) representing 26,000 workers will be at the conference.

Mr. Justice Nemetz was appointed industrial inquiry commissioner by Mr. Peterson some time ago.

The IWA stated it would not strike to back up various demands, including a 30-cent-an-hour wage increase, until after it has studied the Nemetz proposals.

But about 7,000 workers have gone on strike despite that, reflecting an impatience with prolonged negotiations. At one stage 14,000 were out.

The employers seek a written guarantee against wildcat strikes, a five-day, 40-hour week in a seven-day operation and bigger union contributions toward board and lodging costs. They have offered a 23-cent-an-hour pay increase.

Jack Moore, regional union president, has said the Nemetz proposals must contain "a much better settlement" than any proposed by F.I.R. during negotiations if a strike is to be averted.

Yukon Mine Fire

ELEVEN TRAPPED

ELSA, Yukon (CP)—One miner was rescued, one was found dead and possibly 11 men were trapped in the underground workings of the No Cash silver mine Thursday after fire broke out in support timbers at the 200-foot level.

Mine manager Mike Storer said "10 or 11 men were unaccounted for in the mine."

The rescued miner was taken to hospital. Rescue workers had brought out the body of one miner and an injured man who was taken to hospital.

No names were released. Asked about the survival chances of the men who were believed trapped at the 200-foot and 500-foot levels of the mine by the fire, Mr. Storer said:

"We are keeping our fingers crossed; miracles can happen. We don't want to give up."

He said the men were cut off by a fire at the 200-foot level which apparently was of electrical origin in a lunch room and set fire to support timbers.

RESCUE CREWS
Mr. Storer said local mine rescue crews were approaching the area from the 500-foot entrance and additional mine rescue crews and equipment were being flown in from Yellowknife, N.W.T.

The mine is about 1,000 miles northwest of Edmonton and 200 miles north of Whitehorse, Y.T. Yellowknife is 800 miles east of Elsa in the Northwest Territories.

"As of now, we have recovered two men of whom one is in hospital and the other is dead," Mr. Storer said. "There are still 10 or 11 men unaccounted for."

NINE ESCAPE
About nine other men escaped from the mine when the fire broke out.

Mr. Storer said no further statement would be issued until there was something significant to report—possibly in four or five hours when other rescue crews arrive.

Harvest Of Peace

Today's London Daily Express features an Ottawa headline story stressing that increasing reliance on Canadian wheat by Red China and the Iron Curtain countries has become the great new instrument of peace.

The Colonist's Richard Jackson was with the Daily Express correspondent when he interviewed External Affairs Minister Martin and Agricultural Minister Green. His story is on Page 5.

Police Wade In

Marchers Clubbed And Gassed

CANTON, Miss. (UPI)—Helmeted highway patrolmen Thursday night drove Dr. Martin Luther King and nearly 2,000 frenzied "freedom" marchers off a Negro schoolyard with clouds of tear gas and falling boots.

About 100 patrolmen wearing gas masks and some carrying riot guns, threw tear gas capsules into the marchers as they tried to raise their tents in a schoolyard the city had forbidden them to use.

TROOPERS WADE IN
The marchers — most of them local Negroes with the group for only a few hours — screamed and scattered into the streets. About a dozen fell to the ground and the troopers waded into them.

The Negroes, clutching their eyes and crying "Oh God, help us," writhed on the ground and the troopers kicked them in the back and side, then hauled them to their feet, shouting "get up, get up!"

CLUBBED BY FOUR
One Negro was kicked simultaneously by four patrolmen. "God pity you, because I can't," a white marcher yelled at the troopers.

King was standing on the bed of a truck in the middle of the schoolyard when the troopers hurled the gas. The marchers were frantically trying to avert one of their three tents.

"Nobody leave, nobody fight back!" King screamed. "We're gonna stand our ground!"

"We shall overcome!" he shouted, and then began singing.

Glue's Shocking Case

'Snuff Out Sniffing'

OTTAWA (Special) — Former justice minister Davis Fulton Thursday urged the federal government to consider two steps aimed at snuffing out sniffing.

He was commenting on the shocking case of a 16-year-old Toronto boy who palmed said he had turned himself into a "sniffing madman" by sniffing glue.

Thursday juvenile court Judge Terence Moore threw out a charge against the boy stating there is nothing in the Criminal Code making the dangerous teen-age crime illegal.

"The federal government should take steps immediately to review the situation," Mr. Fulton said.

"Perhaps it should investigate control legislation which would permit the sale of glue to children only if they are accompanied by their parents or have a parent's certificate. "And the national research council should be asked to examine the glue to see if it can be produced without the dangerous substances in it," he said.

Sailor Still Missing

VANCOUVER (CP) — The air force searched nine hours Thursday for Kenneth Wain, 28, of North Vancouver, who sailed out to sea from Victoria in his 25-foot cutter to meet the Japanese training ship Kato Maru June 4.

His wife said the last she heard from him was in a telephone call from Victoria in which he said he was "heading for the open sea" to meet the Japanese ship, now in Vancouver.
